ACT I

Prologue

I come no more to make you laugh: things now,
That bear a weighty and a serious brow,
Sad, high, and working, full of state and woe,
Such noble scenes as draw the eye to flow,
We now present. Those that can pity, here
May, if they think it well, let fall a tear;
The subject will deserve it: such, as give
Their money out of hope they may believe,
May here find truth too: those, that come to see
Only a show or two, and so agree
The play may pass, if they be still and willing,
I'll undertake, may see away their shilling
Richly in two short hours. Only they,
That come to hear a merry, bawdy play,
A noise of targets, or to see a fellow
In a long motley coat, guarded with yellow,
Will be deceiv'd; for, gentle hearers, know,
To rank our chosen truth with such a show
As fool and fight is, beside forfeiting
Our own brains, and the opinion that we bring,
To make that only true we now intend,
Will leave us never an understanding friend.
Therefore, for goodness' sake, and as you are known,
The first and happiest hearers of the town,
Be sad as we would make ye: think, ye see
The very persons of our noble story,
As they were living; think, you see them great,
And follow'd with the general throng, and sweat
Of thousand friends; then, in a moment, see
How soon this mightiness meets misery:
And, if you can be merry then, I'll say,
A man may weep upon his wedding day.

Scene 1

London. An Ante-chamber in the Palace

*Enter the Duke of NORFOLK, at one door; at the other,
the Duke of BUCKINGHAM, and the Lord ABERGAUENNY*

BUCKINGHAM

Good morrow, and well met. How have you done,
Since last we saw in France?

NORFOLK

I thank your grace,
Healthful; and ever since a fresh admirer
Of what I saw there.

BUCKINGHAM

An untimely ague
Stay'd me a prisoner in my chamber, when
Those suns of glory, those two lights of men,
Met in the vale of Andren.

NORFOLK

'Twixt Guynes and Arde:
I was then present, saw them salute on horseback;
Beheld them, when they lighted, how they clung
In their embracement, as they grew together;
Which had they, what four thron'd ones could have weigh'd
Such a compounded one?

BUCKINGHAM

All the whole time
I was my chamber's prisoner.

NORFOLK

Then you lost
The view of earthly glory: men might say,
Till this time, pomp was single; but now married

To one above itself. Each following day
 Became the next day's master, till the last
 Made former wonders it 's: to-day the French
 All clinquant, all in gold, like heathen gods,
 Shone down the English; and to-morrow they Made Britain, India: every man that stood
 Show'd like a mine. Their dwarfish pages were
 As cherubins, all gilt: the madams, too,
 Not us'd to toil, did almost sweat to bear
 The pride upon them, that their very labour
 Was to them as a painting: now this mask
 Was cried incomparable; and the ensuing night
 Made it a fool, and beggar. The two kings,
 Equal in lustre, were now best, now worst,
 As presence did present them; him in eye,
 Still him in praise; and, being present both,
 'T was said, they saw but one: and no discerner
 Durst wag his tongue in censure. When these suns
 (For so they phrase 'em) by their heralds challeng'd
 The noble spirits to arms, they did perform
 Beyond thought's compass; that former fabulous story,
 Being now seen possible enough, got credit,
 That Bevis was believ'd.

BUCKINGHAM

O! you go far.

NORFOLK

As I belong to worship, and affect
 In honour honesty, the tract of every thing
 Would by a good discourser lose some life,
 Which action's self was tongue to. All was royal:
 To the disposing of it nought rebell'd;
 Order gave each thing view; the office did
 Distinctly his full function.

King Henry VIII

BUCKINGHAM

Who did guide,
I mean, who set the body and the limbs
Of this great sport together, as you guess?

NORFOLK

One, certes, that promises no element
In such a business.

BUCKINGHAM

I pray you, who, my lord?

NORFOLK

All this was order'd by the good discretion
Of the right reverend cardinal of York.

BUCKINGHAM

The devil speed him! no man's pie is freed
From his ambitious finger. What had he
To do in these fierce vanities? I wonder,
That such a keech can, with his very bulk,
Take up the rays o' the beneficial sun,
And keep it from the earth.

NORFOLK

Surely, Sir,
There 's in him stuff that puts him to these ends;
For, being not propp'd by ancestry, whose grace
Chalks successors their way, nor call'd upon
For high feats done to the crown; neither allied
To eminent assistants, but, spider-like,
Out of his self-drawing web, he gives us note,
The force of his own merit makes his way;
A gift that heaven gives for him, which buys
A place next to the king.

ABERGAVENNY

I cannot tell

What heaven hath given him: let some graver eye
Pierce into that; but I can see his pride
Peep through each part of him: whence has he that?
If not from hell, the devil is a niggard;
Or has given all before, and he begins
A new hell in himself.

BUCKINGHAM

Why the devil,

Upon this French going-out, took he upon him,
(Without the privity o' the king) t' appoint
Who should attend on him? He makes up the file
Of all the gentry; for the most part such
Too, whom as great a charge as little honour
He meant to lay upon: and his own letter,
The honourable board of council out,
Must fetch him in he papers.

ABERGAVENNY

I do know

Kinsmen of mine, three at the least, that have
By this so sicken'd their estates, that never
They shall abound as formerly.

BUCKINGHAM

O! Many

Have broke their backs, with laying manors on them
For this great journey. What did this vanity,
But minister communication of
A most poor issue?

NORFOLK

Grievingly I think,

The peace between the French and us not values
The cost that did conclude it.

King Henry VIII

BUCKINGHAM

Every man,
After the hideous storm that follow'd, was
A thing inspir'd; and, not consulting, broke
Into a general prophecy, — that this tempest,
Dashing the garment of this peace, aboded
The sudden breach on 't.

NORFOLK

Which is budded out;
For France hath flaw'd the league, and hath attach'd
Our merchants' goods at Bourdeaux.

ABERGAVENNY

Is it therefore
Th' ambassador is silenc'd?

NORFOLK

Marry, is 't.

ABERGAVENNY

A proper title of a peace, and purchas'd
At a superfluous rate.

BUCKINGHAM

Why, all this business
Our reverend cardinal carried.

NORFOLK

'Like it your grace,
The state takes notice of the private difference
Betwixt you and the cardinal. I advise you,
(And take it from a heart that wishes towards you Honour and plenteous safety) that you read
The cardinal's malice and his potency
Together: to consider farther, that
What his high hatred would effect wants not
A minister in his power. You know his nature,

That he 's revengeful; and, I know, his sword
 Hath a sharp edge: it 's long, and 't may be said,
 It reaches far; and where 't will not extend,
 Thither he darts it. Bosom up my counsel;
 You 'll find it wholesome. Lo! where comes that rock,
 That I advise your shunning.

Enter Cardinal WOLSEY, (the Purse borne before him,) certain of the Guard, and two Secretaries with Papers. The Cardinal in his passage fixeth his eye on BUCKINGHAM, and BUCKINGHAM on him, both full of disdain

WOLSEY

The duke of Buckingham's surveyor? ha!
 Where 's his examination?

1 SECRETARY

Here, so please you.

WOLSEY

Is he in person ready?

1 SECRETARY

Ay, please your grace.

WOLSEY

Well, we shall then know more; and Buckingham
 Shall lessen this big look.

Exeunt WOLSEY, and Train

BUCKINGHAM

This butcher's cur is venom-mouth'd, and I
 Have not the power to muzzle him; therefore, best
 Not wake him in his slumber. A beggar's book
 Out-worths a noble's blood.

NORFOLK

What! are you chaf'd?
 Ask God for temperance; that 's th' appliance only,
 Which your disease requires.

King Henry VIII

BUCKINGHAM

I read in 's looks
Matter against me; and his eye revil'd
Me, as his abject object: at this instant
He bores me with some trick. He 's gone t' the king:
I 'll follow, and out-stare him.

NORFOLK

Stay, my lord,
And let your reason with your choler question
What 't is you go about. To climb steep hills,
Requires slow pace at first: anger is like
A full-hot horse, who being allow'd his way,
Self-mettle tires him. Not a man in England
Can advise me like you: be to yourself,
As you would to your friend.

BUCKINGHAM

I 'll to the king;
And from a mouth of honour quite cry down
This Ipswich fellow's insolence, or proclaim
There 's difference in no persons.

NORFOLK

Be advis'd;
Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot
That it do singe yourself: we may outrun
By violent swiftmess that which we run at,
And lose by over-running. Know you not,
The fire, that mounts the liquor till 't run o'er,
In seeming to augment it wastes it? Be advis'd:
I say again, there is no English soul
More stronger to direct you than yourself,
If with the sap of reason you would quench,
Or but allay, the fire of passion.

BUCKINGHAM

Sir,

I am thankful to you, and I'll go along
 By your prescription; but this top-proud fellow,
 Whom from the flow of gall I name not, but
 From sincere motions, by intelligence,
 And proofs as clear as founts in July, when
 We see each grain of gravel, I do know
 To be corrupt and treasonous.

NORFOLK

Say not, treasonous.

BUCKINGHAM

To the king I'll say 't, and make my vouch as strong
 As shore of rock. Attend. This holy fox,
 Or wolf, or both, (for he is equal ravenous,
 As he is subtle, and as prone to mischief,
 As able to perform 't, his mind and place
 Infecting one another, yea, reciprocally)
 Only to show his pomp, as well in France
 As here at home, suggests the king, our master,
 To this last costly treaty, th' interview,
 That swallow'd so much treasure, and like a glass
 Did break i' the rising.

NORFOLK

Faith, and so it did.

BUCKINGHAM

Pray, give me favour, Sir. This cunning cardinal
 The articles o' the combination drew,
 As himself pleas'd; and they were ratified,
 As he cried, "Thus let be," to as much end,
 As give a crutch t' the dead. But our count-cardinal
 Has done this, and 't is well; for worthy Wolsey,
 Who cannot err, he did it. Now this follows,
 (Which, as I take it, is a kind of puppy

King Henry VIII

To the old dam, treason) Charles the emperor,
Under pretence to see the queen, his aunt,
(For 't was, indeed, his colour, but he came
To whisper Wolsey) here makes visitation:
His fears were, that the interview betwixt
England and France, might, through their amity,
Breed him some prejudice; for from this league,
Peep'd harms that menac'd him. He privily
Deals with our cardinal, and, as I trow,
Which I do well; for, I am sure, the emperor
Paid ere he promis'd, whereby his suit was granted,
Ere it was ask'd: but when the way was made,
And pav'd with gold, the emperor thus desir'd: —
That he would please to alter the king's course,
And break the foresaid peace. Let the king know,
(As soon he shall by me) that thus the cardinal
Does buy and sell his honour as he pleases,
And for his own advantage.

NORFOLK

I am sorry
To hear this of him; and could wish he were Something mistaken in 't.

BUCKINGHAM

No, not a syllable:
I do pronounce him in that very shape,
He shall appear in proof.

Enter BRANDON; a Sergeant at Arms before him, and two or three of the Guard

BRANDON

Your office, sergeant; execute it.

SERGEANT

Sir,
My lord the duke of Buckingham, and earl
Of Hereford, Stafford, and Northampton, I

Arrest thee of high treason, in the name
Of our most sovereign king.

BUCKINGHAM

Lo, you, my lord!
The net has fall'n upon me: I shall perish
Under device and practice.

BRANDON

I am sorry
To see you ta'en from liberty, to look on
The business present. 'T is his highness' pleasure,
You shall to the Tower.

BUCKINGHAM

It will help me nothing,
To plead mine innocence; for that die is on me,
Which makes my whit'st part black. The will of heaven
Be done in this and all things. — I obey. —
O! my lord Aberga'ny, fare you well.

BRANDON

Nay, he must bear you company. — The king

To Abergavenny

Is pleas'd you shall to the Tower, till you know
How he determines farther.

ABERGAVENNY

As the duke said,
The will of heaven be done, and the king's pleasure
By me obey'd.

Here is a warrant from
The king t' attach lord Montacute; and the bodies
Of the duke's confessor, John de la Car,
One Gilbert Peck, his chancellor, —

King Henry VIII

BUCKINGHAM

So, so;
These are the limbs o' the plot. No more, I hope.

BRANDON

A monk o' the Chartreux.

BUCKINGHAM

O! Nicholas Hopkins?

BRANDON

He.

BUCKINGHAM

My surveyor is false: the o'er-great cardinal
Hath show'd him gold. My life is spann'd already:
I am the shadow of poor Buckingham,
Whose figure even this instant cloud puts on,
By darkening my clear sun. — My lord, farewell.

Exeunt

Scene 2

The Council-Chamber

Cornets. Enter King HENRY, Cardinal WOLSEY, the Lords of the Council, Sir THOMAS LOVELL, Officers, Attendant.

The King enters leaning on the Cardinal's Shoulder

KING HENRY

My life itself, and the best heart of it,
Thanks you for this great care. I stood i' the level
Of a full charg'd confederacy, and give thanks
To you that chok'd it. — Let be call'd before us
That gentleman of Buckingham's: in person
I'll hear him his confessions justify,
And point by point the treasons of his master
He shall again relate.

*The King takes his State. The Lords of the Council occupy their several Places.
The Cardinal places himself under the King's Feet on his right Side.*

A Noise within, crying 'Room for the Queen'. Enter the Queen, ushered by the Dukes of NORFOLK and SUFFOLK: she kneels. The King riseth from his State, takes her up, kisses, and placeth her by him

QUEEN KATHARINE

Nay, we must longer kneel: I am a suitor.

KING HENRY

Arise, and take place by us. — Half your suit
Never name to us; you have half our power:
The other moiety, ere you ask, is given;
Repeat your will, and take it.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Thank your majesty.
That you would love yourself, and in that love
Not unconsider'd leave your honour, nor
The dignity of your office, is the point
Of my petition.

KING HENRY

Lady mine, proceed.

QUEEN KATHARINE

I am solicited not by a few,
And those of true condition, that your subjects
Are in great grievance. There have been commissions
Sent down among them, which hath flaw'd the heart
Of all their loyalties: wherein, although,
My good lord cardinal, they vent reproaches
Most bitterly on you, as putter-on
Of these exactions, yet the king our master,
Whose honour heaven shield from soil! even he escapes not
Language unmannerly; yea, such which breaks
The sides of loyalty, and almost appears
In loud rebellion.

King Henry VIII

NORFOLK

Not almost appears,
It doth appear; for upon these taxations,
The clothiers all, not able to maintain
The many to them 'longing, have put off
The spinsters, carders, fullers, weavers, who,
Unfit for other life, compell'd by hunger
And lack of other means, in desperate manner
Daring th' event to the teeth, are all in uproar,
And danger serves among them.

KING HENRY

Taxation!

Wherein? and what taxation? — My lord cardinal,
You that are blam'd for it alike with us,
Know you of this taxation?

WOLSEY

Please you, Sir,

I know but of a single part, in ought
Pertains to the state; and front but in that file
Where others tell steps with me.

QUEEN KATHARINE

No, my lord,

You know no more than others; but you frame
Things, that are known alike, which are not wholesome
To those which would not know them, and yet must Perforce be their acquaintance. These exactions,
Whereof my sovereign would have note, they are
Most pestilent to the hearing; and, to bear them,
The back is sacrifice to the load. They say,
They are devis'd by you, or else you suffer
Too hard an exclamation.

KING HENRY

Still exaction!
 The nature of it? In what kind, let 's know,
 Is this exaction?

QUEEN KATHARINE

I am much too venturous
 In tempting of your patience; but am bolden'd
 Under your promis'd pardon. The subjects' grief
 Comes through commissions, which compel from each
 The sixth part of his substance, to be levied
 Without delay; and the pretence for this Is nam'd, your wars in France. This makes bold mouths:
 Tongues spit their duties out, and cold hearts freeze
 Allegiance in them: their curses now,
 Live where their prayers did; and it 's come to pass,
 This tractable obedience is a slave
 To each incensed will. I would, your highness
 Would give it quick consideration, for
 There is no primer baseness.

KING HENRY

By my life,
 This is against our pleasure.

WOLSEY

And for me,
 I have no farther gone in this, than by
 A single voice, and that not pass'd me but
 By learned approbation of the judges. If I am
 Traduc'd by ignorant tongues, which neither know
 My faculties, nor person, yet will be
 The chronicles of my doing, let me say,
 'T is but the fate of place, and the rough brake
 That virtue must go through. We must not stint
 Our necessary actions, in the fear

King Henry VIII

To cope malicious censurers; which ever,
As ravenous fishes, do a vessel follow
That is new trimm'd, but benefit no farther
Than vainly longing. What we oft do best,
By sick interpreters (once weak ones) is
Not ours, or not allow'd; what worst, as oft,
Hitting a grosser quality, is cried up
For our best act. If we shall stand still,
In fear our motion will be mock'd or carp'd at,
We should take root here, where we sit, or sit
State statues only.

KING HENRY

Things done well,
And with a care, exempt themselves from fear:
Things done without example, in their issue
Are to be fear'd. Have you a precedent
Of this commission? I believe, not any.
We must not rend our subjects from our laws,
And stick them in our will. Sixth part of each?
A trembling contribution! Why, we take,
From every tree, lop, bark, and part o' the timber;
And, though we leave it with a root, thus hack'd,
The air will drink the sap. To every county
Where this is question'd send our letters, with Free pardon to each man that has denied
The force of this commission. Pray, look to 't;
I put it to your care.

WOLSEY

A word with you.

To the Secretary

Let there he letters writ to every shire,
Of the king's grace and pardon. The griev'd commons
Hardly conceive of me: let it he nois'd,
That through our intercession this revokement

And pardon comes. I shall anon advise you
Farther in the proceeding.

Exit Secretary

Enter Surveyor

QUEEN KATHARINE

I am sorry that the duke of Buckingham
Is run in your displeasure.

KING HENRY

It grieves many:
The gentleman is learn'd, and a most rare speaker;
To nature none more bound; his training such,
That he may furnish and instruct great teachers,
And never seek for aid out of himself: yet see,
When these so noble benefits shall prove
Not well dispos'd, the mind growing once corrupt,
They turn to vicious forms, ten times more ugly
Than ever they were fair. This man so complete,
Who was enroll'd 'mongst wonders, and when we,
Almost with ravish'd list'ning, could not find
His hour of speech a minute; he, my lady,
Hath into monstrous habits put the graces
That once were his, and is become as black
As if besmear'd in hell. Sit by us; you shall hear
(This was his gentleman in trust) of him
Things to strike honour sad. — Bid him recount
The fore-recited practices, whereof
We cannot feel too little, hear too much.

WOLSEY

Stand forth; and with bold spirit relate what you,
Most like a careful subject, have collected
Out of the duke of Buckingham.

KING HENRY

Speak freely.

KING HENRY

How know'st thou this?

SURVEYOR

Not long before your highness sped to France,
 The duke being at the Rose, within the parish
 Saint Lawrence Poultney, did of me demand
 What was the speech among the Londoners
 Concerning the French journey? I replied,
 Men fear'd the French would prove perfidious,
 To the king's danger. Presently the duke
 Said, 't was the fear, indeed; and that he doubted,
 'T would prove the verity of certain words.
 Spoke by a holy monk; "that oft," says he,
 "Hath sent to me, wishing me to permit
 John de la Car, my chaplain, a choice hour
 To hear from him a matter of some moment:
 Whom after, under the confession's seal,
 He solemnly had sworn, that what he spoke
 My chaplain to no creature living, but
 To me, should utter, with demure confidence
 This pausingly ensu'd, — Neither the king, nor 's heirs,
 (Tell you the duke) shall prosper: bid him strive
 To gain the love o' the commonalty: the duke Shall govern England."

QUEEN KATHARINE

If I know you well,
 You were the duke's surveyor, and lost your office
 On the complaint o' the tenants: take good heed,
 You charge not in your spleen a noble person,
 And spoil your nobler soul. I say, take heed;
 Yes, heartily beseech you.

KING HENRY

Let him on. —

Go forward.

King Henry VIII

SURVEYOR

On my soul, I 'll speak but truth.
I told my lord the duke, by the devil's illusions
The monk might be deceiv'd; and that 't was dangerous for him,
To ruminat on this so far, until
It forg'd him some design, which, being believ'd,
It was much like to do: He answer'd, "Tush!
It can do me no damage:" adding farther,
That had the king in his last sickness fail'd,
The cardinal's and Sir Thomas Lovell's heads
Should have gone off.

KING HENRY

Ha! what, so rank? Ah, ha!
There 's mischief in this man. — Canst thou say farther?

SURVEYOR

In can, my liege.

KING HENRY

Proceed.

SURVEYOR

Being at Greenwich,
After your highness had reprov'd the duke
About Sir William Blomer, —

KING HENRY

I remember,
Of such a time: being my sworn servant,
The duke retain'd him his. — But on: what hence?

SURVEYOR

"If," quoth he, "I for this had been committed,
As, to the Tower, I thought, I would have play'd
The part my father meant to act upon

Th' usurper Richard; who, being at Salisbury,
 Made suit to come in 's presence, which if granted,
 As he made semblance of his duty, would
 Have put his knife into him."

KING HENRY

A giant traitor!

WOLSEY

Now, Madam, may his highness live in freedom,
 And this man out of prison?

QUEEN KATHARINE

God mend all!

KING HENRY

There 's something more would out of thee: what say'st?

SURVEYOR

After "the duke his father," with "the knife,"
 He stretch'd him, and, with one hand on his dagger,
 Another spread on 's breast, mounting his eyes,
 He did discharge a horrible oath; whose tenor
 Was, — were be evil us'd, he would out-go
 His father, by as much as a performance
 Does an irresolute purpose.

KING HENRY

There 's his period,
 To sheath his knife in us. He is attach'd;
 Call him to present trial: if he may
 Find mercy in the law, 't is his; if none,
 Let him not seek 't of us. By day and night,
 He 's traitor to the height.

Exeunt

Scene 3

A Room in the Palace

Enter the Lord Chamberlain, and Lord SANDS

CHAMBERLAIN

Is 't possible, the spells of France should juggle
Men into such strange mysteries?

SANDS

New customs,
Though they be never so ridiculous,
Nay, let 'em be unmanly, yet are follow'd.

CHAMBERLAIN

As far as I see, all the good our English
Have got by the late voyage is but merely
A fit or two o' the face; but they are shrewd ones,
For when they hold 'em, you would swear directly,
Their very noses had been counsellors
To Pepin or Clotharius, they keep state so.

SANDS

They have all new legs, and lame ones: one would take it,
That never saw 'em pace before, the spavin,
A springhalt reign'd among them.

CHAMBERLAIN

Death! my lord,
Their clothes are after such a pagan cut too,
That, sure, they 've worn out christendom. How now?
What news, Sir Thomas Lovell?

Enter Sir TOMAS LOVELL

LOVELL

'Faith, my lord,
I hear of none, but the new proclamation
That 's clapp'd upon the court-gate.

CHAMBERLAIN

What is 't for?

LOVELL

The reformation of our travell'd gallants,
That fill the court with quarrels, talk, and tailors.

CHAMBERLAIN

I am glad 't is there: now, I would pray our monsieurs
To think an English courtier may be wise,
And never see the Louvre.

LOVELL

They must either
(For so run the conditions) leave those remnants
Of fool, and feather, that they got in France,
With all their honourable points of ignorance
Pertaining thereunto, as fights and fireworks;
Abusing better men than they can be,
Out of a foreign wisdom; renouncing clean
The faith they have in tennis, and tall stockings,
Short blister'd breeches, and those types of travel,
And understand again like honest men,
Or pack to their old playfellows: there, I take it,
They may, cum privilegio, wear away
The lag end of their lewdness, and be laugh'd at.

SANDS

'T is time to give 'em physic, their diseases
Are grown so catching.

CHAMBERLAIN

What a loss our ladies
Will have of these trim vanities.

LOVELL

Ay, marry,
There will be woe indeed, lords: the sly whoresons

King Henry VIII

Have got a speeding trick to lay down ladies;
A French song, and a fiddle, has no fellow.

SANDS

The devil fiddle them! I am glad they 're going,
For, sure, there 's no converting of them: now,
An honest country lord, as I am, beaten
A long time out of play, may bring his plain-song,
And have an hour of hearing, and, by 'r-lady,
Held current music too.

CHAMBERLAIN

Well said, lord Sands:
Your colt's tooth is not cast yet.

SANDS

No, my lord;
Nor shall not, while I have a stump.

CHAMBERLAIN

Sir Thomas,
Whither were you a going?

LOVELL

To the cardinal's.
Your lordship is a guest too.

CHAMBERLAIN

O! 't is true:
This night he makes a supper, and a great one,
To many lords and ladies: there will be
The beauty of this kingdom, I 'll assure you.

LOVELL

That churchman bears a bounteous mind indeed,
A hand as fruitful as the land that feeds us:
His dews fall every where.

CHAMBERLAIN

No doubt, he 's noble;
He had a black mouth that said other of him.

SANDS

He may, my lord, he has wherewithal: in him,
Sparing would show a worse sin than ill doctrine.
Men of his way should he most liberal;
They are set here for examples.

CHAMBERLAIN

True, they are so;
But few now give so great ones. My barge stays;
Your lordship shall along: — Come, good Sir Thomas,
We shall be late else; which I would not be,
For I was spoke to, with Sir Henry Guildford,
This night to be comptrollers.

SANDS

I am your lordship's.

ExeuntScene 4The Presence-Chamber in York-Place

Hautboys. A small Table under a State for the Cardinal, a longer Table for the Guests; then enter ANNE BULLEN, and divers Lords, Ladies, and Gentlewomen, as Guests, at one door; at another door, enter Sir HENRY GUILDFORD

GUILDFORD

Ladies, a general welcome from his grace
Salutes ye all: this night he dedicates
To fair content, and you. None here, he hopes,
In all this noble bevy, has brought with her
One care abroad: he would have all as merry

King Henry VIII

As first good company, good wine, good welcome
Can make good people. — O, my lord! y' are tardy;

Enter Lord Chamberlain, Lord SANDS, and Sir THOMAS LOVELL.

The very thought of this fair company
Clapp'd wings to me.

CHAMBERLAIN

You are young, Sir Harry Guildford.

SANDS

Sir Thomas Lovell, had the cardinal
But half my lay-thoughts in him, some of these Should find a running banquet ere they rested,
I think, would better please 'em: by my life,
They are a sweet society of fair ones.

LOVELL

O! that your lordship were but now confessor
To one or two of these.

SANDS

I would, I were;
They should find easy penance.

LOVELL

Faith, how easy?

SANDS

As easy as a down-bed would afford it.

CHAMBERLAIN

Sweet ladies, will it please you sit? Sir Harry,
Place you that side, I 'll take the charge of this:
His grace is entering. — Nay, you must not freeze;
Two women plac'd together makes cold weather: —
My lord Sands, you are one will keep 'em waking;
Pray, sit between these ladies.

SANDS

By my faith,
 And thank your lordship. — By your leave, sweet ladies:

Sits himself between ANNE BULLEN and another Lady

If I chance to talk a little wild, forgive me;
 I had it from my father.

ANNE

Was he mad, Sir?

SANDS

O! very mad, exceeding mad; in love too;
 But he would bite none: just as I do now,
 He would kiss you twenty with a breath.

Kisses her

CHAMBERLAIN

Well said, my lord. —
 So, now you are fairly seated. — Gentlemen,
 The penance lies on you, if these fair ladies
 Pass away frowning.

SANDS

For my little cure,
 Let me alone.

Hautboys. Enter Cardinal WOLSEY, attended, and takes his state

WOLSEY

Y' are welcome, my fair guests: that noble lady,
 Or gentleman, that is not freely merry,
 Is not my friend. This, to confirm my welcome;
 And to you all good health.

Drinks

King Henry VIII

SANDS

Your grace is noble:
Let me have such a bowl may hold my thanks,
And save me so much talking.

WOLSEY

My lord Sands,
I am beholding to you: cheer your neighbours. —
Ladies, you are not merry: — gentlemen,
Whose fault is this?

SANDS

The red wine first must rise
In their fair cheeks, my lord; then, we shall have 'em
Talk us to silence.

ANNE

You are a merry gamester,
My lord Sands.

SANDS

Yes, if I make my play.
Here 's to your ladyship; and pledge it, Madam,
For 't is to such a thing, —

ANNE

You cannot show me.

SANDS

I told your grace, they would talk anon.

Drum and Trumpets within; Chambers discharged

WOLSEY

What 's that?

CHAMBERLAIN

Look out there, some of you.

Exit a Servant

WOLSEY

What warlike voice,
 And to what end is this? — Nay, ladies, fear not;
 By all the laws of war y' are privileg'd.

Re-enter Servant

CHAMBERLAIN

How now! what is 't?

SERVANT

A noble troop of strangers,
 For so they seem: they've left their barge, and landed;
 And hither make, as great ambassadors
 From foreign princes.

WOLSEY

Good lord chamberlain,
 Go, give them welcome; you can speak the French tongue:
 And, pray, receive them nobly, and conduct them
 Into our presence, where this heaven of beauty
 Shall shine at full upon them. — Some attend him. —

Exit Chamberlain attended. All arise, and Tables removed

You have now a broken banquet; but we 'll mend it.
 A good digestion to you all; and, once more,
 I shower a welcome on ye. — Welcome all.

Hautboys. Enter the King, and Others, as Maskers, habited like Shepherds, ushered by the Lord Chamberlain. They pass directly before the Cardinal, and gracefully salute him

A noble company! what are their pleasures?

CHAMBERLAIN

Because they speak no English, thus they pray'd
 To tell your grace: — That, having heard by fame
 Of this so noble and so fair assembly
 This night to meet here, they could do no less,

King Henry VIII

Out of the great respect they bear to beauty,
But leave their flocks, and under your fair conduct,
Crave leave to view these ladies, and entreat
An hour of revels with them.

WOLSEY

Say, lord chamberlain,
They have done my poor house grace; for which I pay them
A thousand thanks, and pray them take their pleasures.

Ladies chosen for the Dance. The King takes ANNE BULLEN

KING HENRY

The fairest hand I ever touch'd. O, beauty!
Till now I never knew thee.

Music. Dance

WOLSEY

My lord, —

CHAMBERLAIN

Your grace?

WOLSEY

Pray tell them thus much from me.
There should be one amongst them, by his person,
More worthy this place than myself; to whom,
If I but knew him, with my love and duty
I would surrender it.

CHAMBERLAIN

I will, my lord.

Chamberlain goes to the Maskers, and returns

WOLSEY

What say they?

CHAMBERLAIN

Such a one, they all confess,
There is, indeed; which they would have your grace
Find out, and he will take it.

WOLSEY

Let me see then. —

Comes from his State

By all your good leaves, gentlemen, here I'll make
My royal choice.

KING HENRY

You have found him, cardinal.

Unmasking

You hold a fair assembly; you do well, lord:
You are a churchman, or, I'll tell you, cardinal,
I should judge now unhappily.

WOLSEY

I am glad,

Your grace is grown so pleasant.

KING HENRY

My lord chamberlain,
Pr'ythee, come hither. What fair lady's that?

CHAMBERLAIN

An't please your grace, Sir Thomas Bullen's daughter, —
The viscount Rochford, — one of her highness' women.

KING HENRY

By heaven, she is a dainty one. — Sweet-heart,
I were unmannerly to take you out,
And not to kiss you. — A health, gentlemen!
Let it go round.

King Henry VIII

WOLSEY

Sir Thomas Lovell, is the banquet ready
I' the privy chamber?

LOVELL

Yes, my lord.

WOLSEY

Your grace,
I fear, with dancing is a little heated.

KING HENRY

I fear, too much.

WOLSEY

There 's fresher air, my lord,
In the next chamber.

KING HENRY

Lead in your ladies, every one. — Sweet partner,
I must not yet forsake you. — Let 's be merry,
Good my lord cardinal: I have half a dozen healths
To drink to these fair ladies, and a measure
To lead them once again; and then let 's dream
Who 's best in favour. — Let the music knock it.

Exeunt with Trumpets

ACT II

Scene 1

A Street

Enter Two Gentlemen, meeting

1 GENTLEMAN

Whither away so fast?

2 GENTLEMAN

O! — God save you.
E'en to the hall, to hear what shall become
Of the great duke of Buckingham.

1 GENTLEMAN

I 'll save you
That labour, Sir. All 's now done, but the ceremony
Of bringing back the prisoner.

2 GENTLEMAN

Were you there?

1 GENTLEMAN

Yes, indeed, was I.

2 GENTLEMAN

Pray, speak what has happen'd.

1 GENTLEMAN

You may guess quickly what.

2 GENTLEMAN

Is he found guilty?

1 GENTLEMAN

Yes, truly is he, and condemn'd upon it.

King Henry VIII

2 GENTLEMAN

I am sorry for 't.

1 GENTLEMAN

So are a number more.

2 GENTLEMAN

But, pray, how pass'd it?

1 GENTLEMAN

I'll tell you in a little. The great duke
Came to the bar; where, to his accusations
He pleaded still not guilty, and alleg'd
Many sharp reasons to defeat the law.
The king's attorney, on the contrary,
Urg'd on the examinations, proofs, confessions
Of divers witnesses, which the duke desir'd
To have brought, vivâ voce, to his face:
At which appeared against him, his surveyor;
Sir Gilbert Peck his chancellor; and John Car,
Confessor to him; with that devil-monk,
Hopkins, that made this mischief.

2 GENTLEMAN

That was he,
That fed him with his prophecies?

1 GENTLEMAN

The same.
All these accus'd him strongly; which he fain
Would have flung from him, but, indeed, he could not:
And so his peers, up on this evidence,
Have found him guilty of high treason. Much
He spoke, and learnedly, for life; but all
Was either pitied in him, or forgotten.

2 GENTLEMAN

After all this, how did he bear himself?

1 GENTLEMAN

When he was brought again to the bar, to hear
 His knell rung out, his judgment, he was stirr'd
 With such an agony; he sweat extremely,
 And something spoke in choler, ill, and hasty:
 But he fell to himself again, and sweetly
 In all the rest show'd a most noble patience.

2 GENTLEMAN

I do not think, he fears death.

1 GENTLEMAN

Sure, he does not;
 He was never so womanish: the cause
 He may a little grieve at.

2 GENTLEMAN

Certainly,
 The cardinal is the end of this.

1 GENTLEMAN

'T is likely,
 By all conjectures: first, Kildare's attainder,
 Then deputy of Ireland; who remov'd,
 Earl Surrey was sent thither, and in haste too,
 Lest he should help his father.

2 GENTLEMAN

That trick of state
 Was a deep envious one.

1 GENTLEMAN

At his return,
 No doubt, he will requite it. This is noted,
 And generally; whoever the king favours,
 The cardinal instantly will find employment,
 And far enough from court too.

King Henry VIII

2 GENTLEMAN

All the commons
Hate him perniciously, and, o' my conscience,
Wish him ten fathom deep: this duke as much
They love and dote on; call him, bounteous
Buckingham,
The mirror of all courtesy —

1 GENTLEMAN

Stay there, Sir;
And see the noble ruin'd man you speak of.

Enter BUCKINGHAM from his Arraignment; Tipstaves before him; the Axe with the Edge towards him; Halberds on each Side; accompanied with Sir THOMAS LOVELL, Sir NICHOLAS VAUX, Sir WILLIAM SANDS, and common people

2 GENTLEMAN

Let 's stand close, and behold him.

BUCKINGHAM

All good people,
You that thus far have come to pity me,
Hear what I say, and then go home and lose me.
I have this day receiv'd a traitor's judgment,
And by that name must die: yet, heaven bear witness
And if I have a conscience let it sink me,
Even as the axe falls, if I be not faithful.
The law I bear no malice for my death,
It has done upon the premises but justice;
But those that sought it I could wish more Christians:
Be what they will, I heartily forgive them.
Yet let them look they glory not in mischief,
Nor build their evils on the graves of great men;
For then my guiltless blood must cry against them.
For farther life in this world I ne'er hope,
Nor will I sue, although the king have mercies
More than I dare make faults. You few that lov'd me,
And dare be bold to weep for Buckingham,

His noble friends and fellows, whom to leave
 Is only bitter to him, only dying,
 Go with me, like good angels, to my end;
 And, as the long divorce of steel falls on me,
 Make of your prayers one sweet sacrifice,
 And lift my soul to heaven. — Lead on, o' God's name.

LOVELL

I do beseech your grace for charity,
 If ever any malice in your heart
 Were hid against me, now to forgive me frankly.

BUCKINGHAM

Sir Thomas Lovell, I as free forgive you,
 As I would be forgiven: I forgive all;
 There cannot be those numberless offences
 'Gainst me, that I can not take peace with;
no black envy
 Shall make my grave. Commend me to his grace;
 And, if he speak of Buckingham, pray, tell him,
 You met him half in heaven. My vows and prayers
 Yet are the king's; and, till my soul forsake,
 Shall cry for blessings on him; may he live
 Longer than I have time to tell his years!
 Ever belov'd, and loving, may his rule be!
 And when old time shall lead him to his end,
 Goodness and he fill up one monument!

LOVELL

To the water side I must conduct your grace;
 Then, give my charge up to Sir Nicholas Vaux,
 Who undertakes you to your end.

VAUX

Prepare there!

The duke is coming: see, the barge be ready;
 And fit it with such furniture, as suits
 The greatness of his person.

BUCKINGHAM

Nay, Sir Nicholas,

Let it alone: my state now will but mock me.
When I came hither, I was lord high constable,
And duke of Buckingham; now, poor Edward Bohun:
Yet I am richer than my base accusers,
That never knew what truth meant. I now seal it;
And with that blood will make them one day
groan for 't.

My noble father, Henry of Buckingham,
Who first rais'd head against usurping Richard
Flying for succour to his servant Banister,
Being distress'd, was by that wretch betray'd,
And without trial fell: God's peace be with him!
Henry the seventh succeeding, truly pitying
My father's loss, like a most royal prince,
Restor'd me to my honours, and out of ruins
Made my name once more noble. Now, his son,
Henry the eighth, life, honour, name, and all
That made me happy, at one stroke has taken
For ever from the world. I had my trial,
And, must needs say, a noble one; which makes me
A little happier than my wretched father:
Yet thus far we are one in fortunes, — both
Fell by our servants, by those men we lov'd most:
A most unnatural and faithless service!
Heaven has an end in all: yet, you that hear me,
This from a dying man receive as certain:
Where you are liberal of your loves, and counsels,
Be sure, you be not loose; for those you make friends,
And give your hearts to, when they once perceive
The least rub in your fortunes, fall away
Like water from ye, never found again
But where they mean to sink ye. All good people,
Pray for me. I must now forsake ye: the last hour
Of my long weary life is come upon me.

King Henry VIII

To stop the rumour, and allay those tongues
That durst disperse it.

2 GENTLEMAN

But that slander, Sir,
Is found a truth now; for it grows again
Fresher than e'er it was, and held for certain
The king will venture at it. Either the cardinal,
Or some about him near, have out of malice
To the good queen possess'd him with a scruple,
That will undo her: to confirm this, too,
Cardinal Campeius is arriv'd, and lately,
As all think, for this business.

1 GENTLEMAN

'T is the cardinal;
And merely to revenge him on the emperor,
For not bestowing on him, at his asking,
The archbishoprick of Toledo, this is purpos'd.

2 GENTLEMAN

I think, you have hit the mark: but is 't not cruel,
That she should feel the smart of this? The cardinal
Will have his will, and she must fall.

1 GENTLEMAN

'T is woful.
We are too open here to argue this;
Let 's think in private more.

Exeunt

Scene 2

An Ante-chamber in the Palace

Enter the Lord Chamberlain, reading a Letter

CHAMBERLAIN. "My Lord, — The horses your lordship sent for, with all the care I had, I saw well chosen, ridden, and furnished. They were young, and handsome, and of the best breed in the north. When they were ready to set out for London, a man of my lord cardinal's, by commission and main power, took them from me; with this reason, — his master would be served before a subject, if not before the king; which stopped our mouths, Sir."

I fear, he will, indeed. Well, let him have them:
He will have all, I think.

Enter the Dukes of NORFOLK and SUFFOLK

NORFOLK

Well met, my lord chamberlain.

CHAMBERLAIN

Good day to both your graces.

SUFFOLK

How is the king employ'd?

CHAMBERLAIN

I left him private,
Full of sad thoughts and troubles.

NORFOLK

What 's the cause?

CHAMBERLAIN

It seems, the marriage with his brother's wife
Has crept too near conscience.

SUFFOLK

No; his conscience
Has crept too near another lady.

NORFOLK

'T is so.

This is the cardinal's doing, the king-cardinal:
That blind priest, like the eldest son of fortune,
Turns what he list. The king will know him one day.

King Henry VIII

SUFFOLK

Pray God, he do: he 'll never know himself else.

NORFOLK

How holily he works in all his business,
And with what zeal; for, now he has crack'd the league
Between us and the emperor, the queen's great nephew,
He dives into the king's soul; and there scatters
Dangers, doubts, wringing of the conscience,
Fears, and despairs, and all these for his marriage:
And, out of all these, to restore the king,
He counsels a divorce: a loss of her,
That like a jewel has hung twenty years
About his neck, yet never lost her lustre:
Of her, that loves him with that excellence
That angels love good men with; even of her
That when the greatest stroke of fortune falls,
Will bless the king. And is not this course pious?

CHAMBERLAIN

Heaven keep me from such counsel! 'T is most true,
These news are every where; every tongue speaks them,
And every true heart weeps for 't. All, that dare
Look into these affairs, see this main end, —
The French king's sister. Heaven will one day open
The king's eyes, that so long have slept upon
This bold bad man.

SUFFOLK

And free us from his slavery.

NORFOLK

We had need pray,
And heartily, for our deliverance,
Or this imperious man will work us all
From princes into pages. All men's honours

Lie like one lump before him, to be fashion'd
 Into what pitch he please.

SUFFOLK

For me, my lords,
 I love him not, nor fear him; there 's my creed.
 As I am made without him, so I 'll stand,
 If the king please: his curses and his blessings
 Touch me alike, they 're breath I not believe in.
 I knew him, and I know him; so I leave him
 To him that made him proud, the pope.

NORFOLK

Let 's in.
 And with some other business put the king
 From these sad thoughts, that work too much upon him. —
 My lord, you 'll bear us company?

CHAMBERLAIN

Excuse me;
 The king hath sent me other-where: besides,
 You 'll find a most unfit time to disturb him.
 Health to your lordships.

NORFOLK

Thanks, my good lord chamberlain.

Exit Lord Chamberlain

NORFOLK opens a folding-door. The King is discovered sitting, and reading pensively

SUFFOLK

How sad he looks: sure, he is much afflicted.

KING HENRY

Who is there? ha!

King Henry VIII

NORFOLK

Pray God, he be not angry,

KING HENRY

Who 's there, I say? How dare you thrust yourselves
Into my private meditations?
Who am I? ha!

NORFOLK

A gracious king, that pardons all offences,
Malice ne'er meant: our breach of duty this way
Is business of estate; in wick we come
To know your royal pleasure.

KING HENRY

Ye are too bold.

Go to; I 'll make ye know your times of business:
Is this an hour for temporal affairs? ha! —

Enter WOLSEY and CAMPEIUS

Who 's there? my good lord cardinal? — O! my
Wolsey,
The quiet of my wounded conscience;
Thou art a cure fit for a king. —

To CAMPEIUS

You're welcome,

Most learned reverend Sir, into our kingdom:
Use us, and it. —

To WOLSEY

My good lord, have great care
I be not found a talker.

WOLSEY

Sir, you cannot.

I would, your grace would give us but an hour
Of private conference.

KING HENRY

We are busy: go.

To NORFOLK and SUFFOLK

NORFOLK

Aside

This priest has no pride in him.

SUFFOLK

Aside

Not to speak of;
I would not be so sick though for his place:
But this cannot continue.

NORFOLK

Aside

If it do,
I'll venture one have at him.

SUFFOLK

Aside

I another.

Exeunt NORFOLK and SUFFOLK

WOLSEY

Your grace has given a precedent of wisdom
Above all princes, in committing freely
Your scruple to the voice of Christendom.
Who can be angry now? what envy reach you?
The Spaniard, tied by blood and favour to her,
Must now confess, if they have any goodness,
The trial just and noble. All the clerks,
I mean the learned ones, in Christian kingdoms
Have their free voices: Rome, the nurse of judgment,
Invited by your noble self, hath sent
One general tongue unto us, this good man,

King Henry VIII

This just and learned priest, Cardinal Campeius;
Whom once more I present unto your highness.

KING HENRY

And once more in mine arms I bid him welcome,
And thank the holy conclave for their loves:
They have sent me such a man I would have wish'd for.

CAMPEIUS

Your grace must needs deserve all strangers' loves,
You are so noble. To your highness' hand
I tender my commission; by whose virtue,
(The court of Rome commanding) you, my lord
Cardinal of York, are join'd with me, their servant,
In the impartial judging of this business.

KING HENRY

Two equal men. The queen shall be acquainted
Forthwith for what you come. — Where 's Gardiner?

WOLSEY

I know, your majesty has always lov'd her
So dear in heart, not to deny her that
A woman of less place might ask by law,
Scholars, allow'd freely to argue for her.

KING HENRY

Ay, and the best, she shall have; and my favour
To him that does best: God forbid else. Cardinal,
Pr'ythee, call Gardiner to me, my new secretary:
I find him a fit fellow.

Exit WOLSEY

Re-enter WOLSEY, with GARDINER

WOLSEY

Give me your hand; much joy and favour to you:
You are the king's now.

GARDINER

But to be commanded
For ever by your grace, whose hand has rais'd me.

KING HENRY

Come hither, Gardiner.

They walk and whisper

CAMPEIUS

My lord of York, was not one doctor Pace
In this man's place before him?

WOLSEY

Yes, he was.

CAMPEIUS

Was he not held a learned man?

WOLSEY

Yes, surely.

CAMPEIUS

Believe me, there 's an ill opinion spread, then,
Even of yourself, lord cardinal.

WOLSEY

How! of me?

CAMPEIUS

They will not stick to say, you envied him;
And fearing he would rise, he was so virtuous,
Kept him a foreign man still; which so griev'd him,
That he ran mad, and died.

WOLSEY

Heaven's peace be with him!
That 's Christian care enough: for living murmurers
There 's places of rebuke. He was a fool,
For he would needs be virtuous: that good fellow,
If I command him, follows my appointment:

King Henry VIII

I will have none so near else. Learn this, brother,
We live not to be grip'd by meaner persons.

KING HENRY

Deliver this with modesty to the queen.

Exit GARDINER

The most convenient place that I can think of,
For such receipt of learning, is Black-Friars:
There ye shall meet about this weighty business. —
My Wolsey, see it furnish'd. — O my lord!
Would it not grieve an able man, to leave
So sweet a bedfellow? But, conscience, conscience, —
O! 't is a tender place, and I must leave her.

Exeunt

Scene 3

An Ante-chamber in the Queen's Apartments

Enter ANNE BULLEN, and an old Lady

ANNE

Not for that neither: — here 's the pang that pinches;
His highness having liv'd so long with her, and she
So good a lady, that no tongue could ever
Pronounce dishonour of her, — by my life,
She never knew harm-doing, — O! now, after
So many courses of the sun enthron'd,
Still growing in a majesty and pomp, the which
To leave, a thousand-fold more bitter, than
'T is sweet at first t' acquire, — after this process,
To give her the avault! it is a pity
Would move a monster.

OLD LADY

Hearts of most hard temper
Melt and lament for her.

ANNE

O, God's will! much better,
 She ne'er had known pomp: though it be temporal,
 Yet, if that quarrel, fortune, do divorce
 It from the bearer, 't is a sufferance panging
 As soul and body's severing.

OLD LADY

Alas, poor lady!
 She 's a stranger now again?

ANNE

So much the more
 Must pity drop upon her. Verily,
 I swear, 't is better to be lowly born,
 And range with humble livers in content,
 Than to be perk'd up in a glistering grief,
 And wear a golden sorrow.

OLD LADY

Our content
 Is our best having.

ANNE

By my troth, and maidenhead,
 I would not be a queen.

OLD LADY

Beshrew me, I would,
 And venture maidenhead for 't; and so would you,
 For all this spice of your hypocrisy.
 You that have so fair parts of woman on you,
 Have, too, a woman's heart; which ever yet
 Affected eminence, wealth, sovereignty:
 Which, to say sooth, are blessings, and which gifts
 (Saving your mincing) the capacity
 Of your soft cheveril conscience would receive,
 If you might please to stretch it.

King Henry VIII

ANNE

Nay, good troth, —

OLD LADY

Yes, troth, and troth. — You would not be a queen?

ANNE

No, not for all the riches under heaven.

OLD LADY

'T is strange: a three-pence bowed would hire me,
Old as I am, to queen it. But, I pray you,
What think you of a duchess? have you limbs
To bear that load of title?

ANNE

No, in truth.

OLD LADY

Then you are weakly made. Pluck off a little:
I would not be a young count in your way,
For more than blushing comes to. If your back
Cannot vouchsafe this burden, 't is too weak
Ever to get a boy.

ANNE

How you do talk!

I swear again, I would not be a queen
For all the world.

OLD LADY

In faith, for little England
You 'd venture an emballing: I myself
Would for Carnarvonshire, although there 'long'd
No more to the crown but that. Lo! who comes here?

Enter the Lord Chamberlain

CHAMBERLAIN

Good morrow, ladies. What were 't worth to know
The secret of your conference?

ANNE

My good lord,
Not your demand: it values not your asking.
Our mistress' sorrows we were pitying.

CHAMBERLAIN

It was a gentle business, and becoming
The action of good women: there is hope
All will be well.

ANNE

Now, I pray God, amen!

CHAMBERLAIN

You bear a gentle mind, and heavenly blessings
Follow such creatures. That you may, fair lady,
Perceive I speak sincerely, and high notes
Ta'en of your many virtues, the king's majesty
Commends his good opinion of you to you, and Does purpose honour to you, no less flowing
Than marchioness of Pembroke; to which title
A thousand pound a-year, annual support,
Out of his grace he adds.

ANNE

I do not know,
What kind of my obedience I should tender:
More than my all is nothing; nor my prayers
Are not words duly hallow'd, nor my wishes
More worth than empty vanities: yet prayers, and wishes,
Are all I can return. Beseech your lordship,
Vouchsafe to speak my thanks, and my obedience,

King Henry VIII

As from a blushing handmaid, to his highness;
Whose health, and royalty, I pray for.

CHAMBERLAIN

Lady,
I shall not fail t' approve the fair conceit,
The king hath of you. — I have perus'd her well:

Aside

Beauty and honour in her are so mingled,
That they have caught the king; and who knows yet,
But from this lady may proceed a gem
To lighten all this isle? —

To her

I 'll to the king,
And say, I spoke with you.

ANNE

My honour'd lord.

Exit Lord Chamberlain

OLD LADY

Why, this it is; see, see!
I have been begging sixteen years in court,
(Am yet a courtier beggarly) nor could
Come pat betwixt too early and too late,
For any suit of pounds; and you, O fate!
A very fresh-fish here, (fie, fie, fie upon
This compell'd fortune!) have your mouth fill'd up,
Before you open it.

ANNE

This is strange to me.

OLD LADY

How tastes it? is it bitter? forty pence, no.
There was a lady once, ('t is an old story)

That would not be a queen, that would she not,
For all the mud in Egypt: — have you heard it?

ANNE

Come, you are pleasant.

OLD LADY

With your theme I could
O'er mount the lark. The marchioness of Pembroke!
A thousand pounds a-year, for pure respect;
No other obligation. By my life,
That promises more thousands: honour's train
Is longer than his foreskirt. By this time,
I know, your back will bear a duchess. — Say,
Are you not stronger than you were?

ANNE

Good lady,
Make yourself mirth with your particular fancy,
And leave me out on 't. Would I had no being,
If this salute my blood a jot: it faints me,
To think what follows.
The queen is comfortless, and we forgetful
In our long absence. Pray, do not deliver
What here you 've heard, to her.

OLD LADY

What do you think me?

Exeunt

Scene 4

A Hall in Black-friars

Trumpets, Sennet, and Cornets. Enter Two Vergers, with short Silver Wands; next them, Two Scribes, in the habit of Doctors; after them, the Archbishop of CANTERBURY alone; after him, the Bishops of LINCOLN, ELY, ROCHESTER, and SAINT ASAPH; next them, with some small distance, follows a Gentleman bearing the Purse, with the Great Seal, and a Cardinal's Hat; then two Priests, bearing each a Silver Cross; then a Gentleman-Usher bare-headed, accompanied with a Sergeant at Arms, bearing a Silver Mace; then two Gentlemen, bearing two great Silver Pillars; after them, side by side, the two Cardinals WOLSEY and CAMPEIUS; two Noblemen with the Sword and Mace. The King takes place under the cloth of state; the two Cardinals sit under him as judges. The Queen takes place at some distance from the King. The Bishops place themselves on each side the court, in manner of a consistory; below them, the Scribes. The Lords sit next the Bishops. The rest of the Attendants stand in convenient order about the stage

WOLSEY

Whilst our commission from Rome is read,
Let silence be commanded.

KING HENRY

What 's the need?
It hath already publicly been read,
And on all sides th' authority allow'd;
You may, then, spare that time.

WOLSEY

Be 't so. — Proceed.

SCRIBE

Say, Henry king of England, come into the court.

CRIER

Henry king of England, &c.

Here.

SCRIBE

Say, Katharine queen of England, come into the court.

Katharine, queen of England, &c.

The Queen makes no answer, rises out of her chair, goes about the court, comes to the King, and kneels at his feet; then speaks

QUEEN KATHARINE

Sir, I desire you, do me right and justice,
 And to bestow your pity on me; for
 I am a most poor woman, and a stranger,
 Born out of your dominions; having here
 No judge indifferent, nor no more assurance
 Of equal friendship and proceeding. Alas! Sir,
 In what have I offended you? what cause
 Hath my behaviour given to your displeasure,
 That thus you should proceed to put me off,
 And take your good grace from me? Heaven witness,
 I have been to you a true and humble wife,
 At all times to your will conformable:
 Ever in fear to kindle your dislike,
 Yea, subject to your countenance; glad, or sorry,
 As I saw it inclin'd. When was the hour
 I ever contradicted your desire,
 Or made it not mine too? Or which of your friends
 Have I not strove to love, although I knew
 He were mine enemy? what friend of mine,
 That had to him deriv'd your anger, did I
 Continue in my liking? nay, gave notice
 He was from thence discharg'd. Sir, call to mind
 That I have been your wife, in this obedience,
 Upward of twenty years, and have been blest
 With many children by you: if in the course
 And process of this time, you can report,
 And prove it too, against mine honour aught,
 My bond to wedlock, or my love and duty,

King Henry VIII

Against your sacred person, in God's name,
Turn me away; and let the foul'st contempt
Shut door upon me, and so give me up
To the sharp'st kind of justice. Please you, Sir,
The king, your father, was reputed for
A prince most prudent, of an excellent
And unmatched wit and judgment: Ferdinand,
My father, king of Spain, was reckon'd one
The wisest prince, that there had reign'd by many
A year before: it is not to be question'd
That they had gather'd a wise council to them
Of every realm, that did debate this business,
Who deem'd our marriage lawful. Wherefore I humbly
Beseech you, Sir, to spare me, till I may
Be by my friends in Spain advis'd, whose counsel
I will implore: if not, i' the name of God,
Your pleasure be fulfill'd!

WOLSEY

You have here, lady,
(And of your choice) these reverend fathers; men
Of singular integrity and learning,
Yea, the elect o' the land, who are assembled
To plead your cause. It shall be therefore bootless,
That longer you desire the court, as well
For your own quiet, as to rectify
What is unsettled in the king.

CAMPEIUS

His grace
Hath spoken well, and justly: therefore, Madam,
It 's fit this royal session do proceed,
And that, without delay, their arguments
Be now produc'd and heard.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Lord cardinal,
To you I speak.

WOLSEY

Your pleasure, Madam?

QUEEN KATHARINE

Sir,

I am about to weep; but, thinking that
We are a queen, (or long have dream'd so) certain
The daughter of a king, my drops of tears
I'll turn to sparks of fire.

WOLSEY

Be patient yet.

QUEEN KATHARINE

I will, when you are humble; nay, before,
Or God will punish me. I do believe,
Induc'd by potent circumstances, that
You are mine enemy, and make my challenge:
You shall not be my judge; for it is you
Have blown this coal betwixt my lord and me,
Which God's dew quench. — Therefore, I say again,
I utterly abhor, yea, from my soul,
Refuse you for my judge; whom, yet once more,
I hold my most malicious foe, and think not
At all a friend to truth.

WOLSEY

I do profess,
You speak not like yourself; who ever yet
Have stood to charity, and display'd th' effects
Of disposition gentle, and of wisdom
O'ertopping woman's power. Madam, you do me wrong:
I have no spleen against you; nor injustice
For you, or any: how far I have proceeded,
Or how far farther shall, is warranted
By a commission from the consistory,
Yea, the whole consistory of Rome. You charge me,

King Henry VIII

That I have blown this coal: I do deny it.
The king is present: if it be known to him,
That I gainsay my deed, how may he wound,
And worthily, my falsehood; yea, as much
As you have done my truth. If he know
That I am free of your report, he knows,
I am not of your wrong: therefore, in him
It lies, to cure me; and the cure is, to Remove these thoughts from you: the which before
His highness shall speak in, I do beseech
You, gracious Madam, to unthink your speaking,
And to say so no more.

QUEEN KATHARINE

My lord, my lord,
I am a simple woman, much too weak
To oppose your cunning. Y' are meek, and humblemouth'd;
You sign your place and calling in full seeming,
With meekness and humility; but your heart
Is cramm'd with arrogancy, spleen, and pride.
You have, by fortune and his highness' favours,
Gone slightly o'er low steps, and now are mounted
Where powers are your retainers; and your words t
Domestics to you, serve your will, as 't please
Yourself pronounce their office. I must tell you t
You tender more your person's honour, than
Your high profession spiritual; that again
I do refuse you for my judge, and here,
Before you all, appeal unto the pope,
To bring my whole cause 'fore his holiness,
And to be judg'd by him.

She curtsies to the King, and offers to depart

CAMPEIUS

The queen is obstinate,
Stubborn to justice, apt to accuse it, and

Disdainful to be tried by 't: 't is not well.
She 's going away.

KING HENRY

Call her again.

CRIER

Katharine, queen of England, come into the court.

GENTLEMAN-USHER

Madam, you are call'd back.

QUEEN KATHARINE

What need you note it? pray you, keep your way:
When you are call'd, return. — Now the Lord help!
They vex me past my patience. — Pray you, pass on:
I will not tarry; no, nor ever more,
Upon this business, my appearance make
In any of their courts.

Exeunt Queen, and her Attendants

KING HENRY

Go thy ways, Kate:
That man i' the world who shall report he has
A better wife, let him in nought be trusted,
For speaking false in that. Thou art, alone,
(If thy rare qualities, sweet gentleness,
Thy meekness saint-like, wife-like government,
Obeying in commanding, and thy parts
Sovereign and pious else, could speak thee out)
The queen of earthly queens. — She 's noble born;
And, like her true nobility, she has Carried herself towards me.

WOLSEY

Most gracious Sir,
In humblest manner I require your highness,
That it shall please you to declare, in hearing

King Henry VIII

Of all these ears, (for where I am robb'd and bound,
There must I be unloos'd, although not there
At once, and fully satisfied) whether ever I
Did broach this business to your highness, or Laid any scruple in your way, which might Induce you to the question on 't? or ever
Have to you, but with thanks to God for such
A royal lady, spake one the least word, that might
Be to the prejudice of her present state,
Or touch of her good person?

KING HENRY

My lord cardinal,
I do excuse you; yea, upon mine honour,
I free you from 't. You are not to be taught
That you have many enemies, that know not
Why they are so, but, like to village curs,
Bark when their fellows do: by some of these
The queen is put in anger. Y^e are excus'd;
But will you be more justified? you ever
Have wish'd the sleeping of this business; never Desir'd it to be stirr'd; but oft have hinder'd, oft,
The passages made toward it. — On my honour,
I speak my good lord cardinal to this point,
And thus far clear him. Now, what mov'd me to 't.
I will be bold with time, and your attention: —
Then, mark th' inducement. Thus it came; — give heed to 't.

My conscience first received a tenderness,
Scruple, and prick, on certain speeches utter'd
By the bishop of Bayonne, then French ambassador;
Who had been hither sent on the debating,
A marriage 'twixt the duke of Orleans and
Our daughter Mary. I' the progress of this business,
Ere a determinate resolution, he
(I mean, the bishop) did require a respite;
Wherein he might the king his lord advertise

Whether our daughter were legitimate,
 Respecting this our marriage with the dowager,
 Sometimes our brother's wife. This respite shook
 The bosom of my conscience, enter'd me,
 Yea, with a splitting power, and made to tremble
 The region of my breast; which forc'd such way,
 That many maz'd considerings did throng,
 And press'd in with this caution. First, methought,
 I stood not in the smile of Heaven; who had
 Commanded nature, that my lady's womb,
 If it conceiv'd a male child by me, should
 Do no more offices of life to 't, than
 The grave does to the dead; for her male issue
 Or died where they were made, or shortly after
 This world had air'd them. Hence I took a thought,
 This was a judgment on me; that my kingdom,
 Well worthy the best heir o' the world, should not
 Be gladdened in 't by me. Then follows, that
 I weigh'd the danger which my realms stood in
 By this my issue's fail; and that gave to me
 Many a groaning throe. Thus hulling in
 The wild sea of my conscience, I did steer
 Toward this remedy, whereupon we are
 Now present here together; that 's to say,
 I meant to rectify my conscience, — which
 I then did feel full sick, and yet not well, —
 By all the reverend fathers of the land,
 And doctors learn'd. First, I began in private
 With you, my lord of Lincoln: you remember
 How under my oppression I did reek,
 When I first mov'd you.

LINCOLN

Very well, my liege.

KING HENRY

I have spoke long; be pleas'd yourself to say
 How far you satisfied me.

LINCOLN

So please your highness,
The question did at first so stagger me, —
Bearing a state of mighty moment in 't,
And consequence of dread, — that I committed
The daring'st counsel which I had to doubt,
And did entreat your highness to this course,
Which you are running here.

KING HENRY

I then mov'd you,
My lord of Canterbury; and got your leave
To make this present summons. — Unsolicited
I left no reverend person in this court;
But by particular consent proceeded,
Under your hands and seals: therefore, go on;
For no dislike i' the world against the person
Of the good queen, but the sharp thorny points
Of my alleged reasons drive this forward.
Prove but our marriage lawful, by my life,
And kingly dignity, we are contented
To wear our mortal state to come with her,
Katharine our queen, before the primest creature
That 's paragon'd o' the world.

CAMPEIUS

So please your highness,
The queen being absent, 't is a needful fitness
That we adjourn this court till farther day;
Meanwhile must be an earnest motion
Made to the queen, to call back her appeal
She intends unto his holiness.

KING HENRY

Aside

I may perceive,
These cardinals trifle with me: I abhor

This dilatory sloth, and tricks of Rome.
My learn'd and well-beloved Servant, Cranmer!
Pr'ythee, return: with thy approach, I know,
My comfort comes along. — Break up the court:
I say, set on.

Exeunt, in manner as they entered

ACT III

Scene 1

*The Palace at Bridewell
A Room in the Queen's Apartment
The Queen, and her Women, as at work*

QUEEN KATHARINE

Take thy lute, wench: my soul grows sad with troubles;
Sing, and disperse them, if thou canst. Leave working.

SONG

Orpheus with his lute made trees,
And the mountain-tops, that freeze,
Bow themselves, when he did sing:
To his music, plants, and flowers,
Ever sprung; as sun, and showers,
There had made a lasting spring.

Every thing that heard him play.
Even the billows of the sea,
Hung their heads, and then lay by.
In sweet music is such art,
Killing care, and grief of heart,
Fall asleep, or, hearing, die.

Enter a Gentleman

QUEEN KATHARINE

How now!

GENTLEMAN

An 't please your grace, the two great cardinals
Wait in the presence.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Would they speak with me?

King Henry VIII

GENTLEMAN

They will 'd me say so, Madam.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Pray their graces

To come near.

Exit Gentleman

What can be their business
With me, a poor weak woman, fallen from favour?
I do not like their coming, now I think on 't.
They should be good men, their affairs as righteous;
But all hoods make not monks.

Enter WOLSEY and CAMPEIUS

WOLSEY

Peace to your highness.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Your graces find me here part of a housewife;
I would he all, against the worst may happen.
What are your pleasures with me, reverend lords?

WOLSEY

May it please you, noble Madam, to withdraw
Into your private chamber, we shall give you
The full cause of our coming.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Speak it here.

There 's nothing I have done yet, o' my conscience,
Deserves a corner: would all other women
Could speak this with as free a soul as I do!
My lords, I care not, (so much I am happy Above a number) if my actions
Were tried by every tongue, every eye saw them,
Envy and base opinion set against them,

I know my life so even. If your business
 Seek me out, and that way I am wife in,
 Out with it boldly: truth loves open dealing.

WOLSEY

Tanta est erga te mentis integritas, regina serenissima, —

QUEEN KATHARINE

O, good my lord, no Latin:
 I am not such a truant since my coming,
 As not to know the language I have liv'd in:
 A strange tongue makes my cause more strange,
suspicious;
 Pray, speak in English. Here are some will thank you,
 If you speak truth, for their poor mistress' sake:
 Believe me, she has had much wrong. Lord cardinal,
 The willing'st sin I ever yet committed,
 May be absolv'd in English.

WOLSEY

Noble lady,

I am sorry, my integrity should breed,
 (And service to his majesty and you)
 So deep suspicion, where all faith was meant.
 We come not by the way of accusation,
 To taint that honour every good tongue blesses,
 Nor to betray you any way to sorrow;
 You have too much, good lady; but to know
 Now you stand minded in the weighty difference
 Between the king and you, and to deliver,
 Like free and honest men, our just opinions,
 And comforts to your cause.

CAMPEIUS

Most honour'd Madam;

My lord of York, — out of his noble nature,
 Zeal and obedience he still bore your grace,
 Forgetting, like a good man, your late censure

King Henry VIII

Both of his truth and him, (which was too far) —
Offers, as I do, in a sign of peace,
His service and his counsel.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Aside

To betray me.

My lords, I thank you both for your good wills,
Ye speak like honest men, (pray God, ye prove so!)
But how to make ye suddenly an answer,
In such a point of weight, so near mine honour,
(More near my life, I fear,) with my weak wit,
And to such men of gravity and learning,
In truth, I know not. I was set at work
Among my maids; full little, God knows, looking
Either for such men, or such business.
For her sake that I have been, for I feel
The last fit of my greatness, good your graces,
Let me have time and counsel for my cause.
Alas! I am a woman, friendless, hopeless.

WOLSEY

Madam, you wrong the king's love with these fears:
Your hopes and friends are infinite.

QUEEN KATHARINE

In England,
But little for my profit: can you think, lords,
That any Englishman dare give me counsel?
Or be a known friend, 'gainst his highness' pleasure,
(Though he be grown so desperate to be honest)
And live a subject? Nay, forsooth, my friends,
They that must weigh out my afflictions,
They that my trust must grow to, live not here:
They are, as all my other comforts, far hence,
In mine own country, lords.

CAMPEIUS

I would, your grace
Would leave your griefs, and take my counsel.

QUEEN KATHARINE

How, Sir?

CAMPEIUS

Put your main cause into the king's protection;
He 's loving, and most gracious: 't will be much
Both for your honour better, and your cause;
For if the trial of the law o'ertake you,
You 'll part away disgrac'd.

WOLSEY

He tells you rightly.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Ye tell me what ye wish for both, — my ruin.
Is this your Christian counsel? out upon ye!
Heaven is above all yet: there sits a Judge
That no king can corrupt.

CAMPEIUS

Your rage mistakes us.

QUEEN KATHARINE

The more shame for ye! holy men I thought ye,
Upon my soul, two reverend cardinal virtues;
But cardinal sins, and hollow hearts, I fear ye.
Mend them for shame, my lords. Is this your comfort?
The cordial that ye bring a wretched lady?
A woman lost among ye, laugh'd at, scorn'd?
I will not wish ye half my miseries,
I have more charity; but say, I warn'd ye:
Take heed, for heaven's sake, take heed, lest at once
The burden of my sorrows fall upon ye.

WOLSEY

Madam, this is a mere distraction;
You turn the good we offer into envy.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Ye turn me into nothing. Woe upon ye,
And all such false professors! Would ye have me
(If ye have any justice, any pity,
If ye be any thing but churchmen's habits)
Put my sick cause into his hands that hates me?
Alas! he has banish'd me his bed already;
His love, too long ago: I am old, my lords,
And all the fellowship I hold now with him
Is only my obedience. What can happen
To me above this wretchedness? all your studies
Make me a curse like this.

CAMPEIUS

Your fears are worse.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Have I liv'd thus long — (let me speak myself,
Since virtue finds no friends,) — a wife, a true one?
A woman (I dare say without vain-glory)
Never yet branded with suspicion?
Have I with all my full affections
Still met the king? lov'd him next heaven? obey'd him?
Been, out of fondness, superstitious to him?
Almost forgot my prayers to content him?
And am I thus rewarded? 't is not well, lords.
Bring me a constant woman to her husband,
One that ne'er dream'd a joy beyond his pleasure,
And to that woman, when she has done most,
Yet will I add an honour, — a great patience.

WOLSEY

Madam, you wander from the good we aim at.

QUEEN KATHARINE

My lord, I dare not make myself so guilty,
 To give up willingly that noble title
 Your master wed me to: nothing but death
 Shall e'er divorce my dignities.

WOLSEY

Pray, hear me.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Would I had never trod this English earth,
 Or felt the flatteries that grow upon it!
 Ye have angels' faces, but heaven knows your hearts.
 What will become of me now, wretched lady?
 I am the most unhappy woman living. —
 Alas! poor wenches, where are now your fortunes!

To her Women

Shipwreck'd upon a kingdom, where no pity,
 No friends, no hope, no kindred weep for me,
 Almost no grave allow'd me. — Like the lily,
 That once was mistress of the field and flourish'd,
 I'll hang my head, and perish.

WOLSEY

If your grace
 Could but be brought to know our ends are honest,
 You'd feel more comfort. Why should we, good lady,
 Upon what cause, wrong you? alas! our places,
 The way of our profession is against it:
 We are to cure such sorrows, not to sow them.
 For goodness' sake, consider what you do;
 How you may hurt yourself, ay, utterly
 Grow from the king's acquaintance by this carriage.
 The hearts of princes kiss obedience,
 So much they love it; but to stubborn spirits,
 They swell, and grow as terrible as storms.

King Henry VIII

I know, you have a gentle, noble temper,
A soul as even as a calm: pray, think us
Those we profess, peace-makers, friends, and servants.

CAMPEIUS

Madam, you 'll find it so. You wrong your virtues
With these weak women's fears: a noble spirit,
As yours was put into you, ever casts
Such doubts, as false coin, from it. The king loves you;
Beware, you lose it not: for us, if you please
To trust us in your business, we are ready
To use our utmost studies in your service.

QUEEN KATHARINE

Do what ye will, my lords: and, pray, forgive me,
If I have us'd myself unmannerly.
You know I am a woman, lacking wit
To make a seemly answer to such persons.
Pray do my service to his majesty:
He has my heart yet, and shall have my prayers,
While I shall have my life. Come, reverend fathers;
Bestow your counsels on me: she now begs,
That little thought, when she set footing here,
She should have bought her dignities so dear.

Exeunt

Scene 2

Ante-chamber to the King's Apartment

Enter the Duke of NORFOLK, the Duke of SUFFOLK, the Earl of SURREY, and the Lord Chamberlain

NORFOLK

If you will now unite in your complaints,
And force them with a constancy, the cardinal
Cannot stand under them: if you omit
The offer of this time, I cannot promise,

But that you shall sustain more new disgraces,
With these you bear already.

SURREY

I am joyful
To meet the least occasion, that may give me
Remembrance of my father-in-law, the duke,
To be reveng'd on him.

SUFFOLK

Which of the peers
Have uncontemn'd gone by him, or at least
Strangely neglected? when did he regard
The stamp of nobleness in any person,
Out of himself?

CHAMBERLAIN

My lords, you speak your pleasures.
What he deserves of you and me, I know;
What we can do to him, (though now the time Gives way to us) I much fear. If you cannot Bar his access to the king, never attempt
Any thing on him, for he hath a witchcraft
Over the king in 's tongue.

NORFOLK

O! fear him not;
His spell in that is out: the king hath found
Matter against him, that for ever mars
The honey of his language. No, he 's settled,
Not to come off, in his displeasure.

SURREY

Sir,
I should be glad to hear such news as this
Once every hour.

King Henry VIII

NORFOLK

Believe it, this is true.
In the divorce his contrary proceedings
Are all unfolded; wherein he appears,
As I could wish mine enemy.

SURREY

How came
His practices to light?

SUFFOLK

Most strangely.

SURREY

O! how? how?

SUFFOLK

The cardinal's letter to the pope miscarried,
And came to the eye o' the king; wherein was read,
How that the cardinal did entreat his holiness
To stay the judgment o' the divorce; for if
It did take place, "I do," quoth he, "perceive,
My king is tangled in affection to
A creature of the queen's, lady Anne Bullen."

SURREY

Has the king this?

SUFFOLK

Believe it.

SURREY

Will this work?

CHAMBERLAIN

The king in this perceives him, how he coasts,
And hedges, his own way. But in this point
All his tricks founder, and he brings his physic
After his patient's death: the king already
Hath married the fair lady.

SURREY

Would he had!

SUFFOLK

May you be happy in your wish, my lord;
For, I profess, you have it.

SURREY

Now all my joy
Trace the conjunction!

SUFFOLK

My amen to 't:

NORFOLK

All men's.

SUFFOLK

There 's order given for her coronation:
Marry, this is yet but young, and may be left
To some ears unrecounted. — But, my lords,
She is a gallant creature, and complete
In mind and feature: I persuade me, from her
Will fall some blessing to this land, which shall
In it be memoriz'd.

SURREY

But, will the king
Digest this letter of the cardinal's?
The Lord forbid!

NORFOLK

Marry, amen!

SUFFOLK

No, no:
There be more wasps that buz about his nose,
Will make this sting the sooner. Cardinal Campeius
Is stolen away to Rome; hath ta'en no leave;

King Henry VIII

Has left the cause o' the king unhandled, and
Is posted, as the agent of our cardinal,
To second all his plot. I do assure you
The king cried, ha! at this.

CHAMBERLAIN

Now, God incense him,
And let him cry ha! louder.

NORFOLK

But, my lord,
When returns Cranmer?

SUFFOLK

He is return'd, in his opinions, which
Have satisfied the king for his divorce,
Together with all famous colleges
Almost in Christendom. Shortly, I believe,
His second marriage shall be publish'd, and
Her coronation. Katharine no more
Shall be call'd queen, but princess dowager,
And widow to prince Arthur.

NORFOLK

This same Cranmer 's
A worthy fellow, and hath ta'en much pain
In the king's business.

SUFFOLK

He has; and we shall see him
For it an archbishop.

NORFOLK

So I hear.

SUFFOLK

'T is so.

The cardinal —

Enter WOLSEY and CROMWELL

NORFOLK

Observe, observe; he 's moody.

WOLSEY

The packet, Cromwell, gave it you the king?

CROMWELL

To his own hand, in his bedchamber.

WOLSEY

Look'd he o' th' inside of the paper?

CROMWELL

Presently

He did unseal them, and the first he view'd,
He did it with a serious mind; a heed
Was in his countenance: you he bade
Attend him here this morning.

WOLSEY

Is he ready

To come abroad?

CROMWELL

I think, by this he is.

Exit CROMWELL

WOLSEY

Leave me awhile. —

It shall be to the duchess of Alençon,
The French king's sister: he shall marry her. —
Anne Bullen? No; I 'll no Anne Bullens for him:
There 's more in 't than fair visage. — Bullen!
No, we 'll no Bullens. — Speedily I wish
To hear from Rome. — The marchioness of Pembroke!

King Henry VIII

NORFOLK

He 's discontented.

SUFFOLK

May be, he hears the king
Does whet his anger to him.

SURREY

Sharp enough,
Lord! for thy justice.

WOLSEY

The late queen's gentlewoman, a knight's daughter,
To be her mistress' mistress! the queen's queen! —
This candle burns not clear: 't is I must snuff it;
Then, out it goes. — What though I know her virtuous,
And well deserving, yet I know her for
A spleeny Lutheran; and not wholesome to
Our cause, that she should lie i' the bosom of
Our hard-rul'd king. Again, there is sprung up
An heretic, an arch one, Cranmer; one
Hath crawl'd into the favour of the king,
And is his oracle.

NORFOLK

He is vex'd at something.

SUFFOLK

I would, 't were something that would fret the string,
The master-cord on 's heart!

Enter the King, reading a Schedule; and LOVELL

SUFFOLK

The king, the king.

KING HENRY

What piles of wealth hath he accumulated,
To his own portion! and what expence by the hour

Seems to flow from him! How, i' the name of thrift,
Does he rake this together? — Now, my lords;
Saw you the cardinal?

NORFOLK

My lord, we have
Stood here observing him. Some strange commotion
Is in his brain: he bites his lip, and starts;
Stops on a sudden, looks upon the ground,
Then, lays his finger on his temple; straight,
Springs out into fast gait; then, stops again,
Strikes his breast hard; and anon, he casts
His eye against the moon. In most strange postures
We have seen him set himself.

KING HENRY

It may well be:
There is a mutiny in 's mind. This morning
Papers of state he sent me to peruse,
As I requir'd; and, wot you, what I found
There, on my conscience, put unwittingly?
Forsooth an inventory, thus importing, —
The several parcels of his plate, his treasure,
Rich stuffs, and ornaments of household, which
I find at such proud rate, that it out-speaks
Possession of a subject.

NORFOLK

It 's heaven's will:
Some spirit put this paper in the packet,
To bless your eye withal.

KING HENRY

If we did think
His contemplation were above the earth,
And fix'd on spiritual object, he should still
Dwell in his musings; but, I am afraid,

King Henry VIII

His thinkings are below the moon, not worth
His serious considering.

He takes his seat, and whispers LOVELL, who goes to WOLSEY

WOLSEY

Heaven forgive me!
Ever God bless your highness.

KING HENRY

Good my lord,
You are full of heavenly stuff, and bear the inventory
Of your best graces in your mind, the which
You were now running o'er; you have scarce time
To steal from spiritual leisure a brief span,
To keep your earthly audit. Sure, in that
I deem you an ill husband, and am glad
To have you therein my companion.

WOLSEY

Sir,
For holy offices I have a time; a time
To think upon the part of business, which
I bear i' the state; and nature does require
Her times of preservation, which, perforce,
I her frail son, amongst my brethren mortal,
Must give my tendance to.

KING HENRY

You have said well.

WOLSEY

And ever may your highness yoke together,
As I will lend you cause, my doing well
With my well saying!

KING HENRY

'T is well said again;
And 't is a kind of good deed, to say well:

And yet words are no deeds. My father lov'd you;
 He said he did, and with his deed did crown
 His word upon you: since I had my office,
 I have kept you next my heart; have not alone
 Employ'd you where high profits might come home,
 But par'd my present havings, to bestow
 My bounties upon you.

WOLSEY

What should this mean?

SURREY

Aside

The Lord increase this business!

KING HENRY

Have I not made you
 The prime man of the state? I pray you, tell me,
 If what I now pronounce you have found true;
 And, if you may confess it, say withal,
 If you are bound to us, or no. What say you?

WOLSEY

My sovereign, I confess, your royal graces,
 Shower'd on me daily, have been more than could
 My studied purposes requite; which went
 Beyond all man's endeavours: my endeavours
 Have ever come too short of my desires,
 Yet fill'd with my abilities. Mine own ends
 Have been mine so, that evermore they pointed
 To the good of your most sacred person, and
 The profit of the state. For your great graces
 Heap'd upon me, poor undeserver, I
 Can nothing render but allegiant thanks;
 My prayers to heaven for you; my loyalty,
 Which ever has, and ever shall be growing,
 Till death, that winter, kill it.

KING HENRY

Fairly answer'd:

A loyal and obedient subject is
Therein illustrated. The honour of it
Does pay the act of it; as, i' the contrary,
The foulness is the punishment. I presume,
That as my hand has open'd bounty to you,
My heart dropp'd love, my power rain'd honour, more
On you than any; so your hand, and heart,
Your brain, and every function of your power,
Should, notwithstanding that your bond of duty,
As 't were in love's particular, be more
To me, your friend, than any.

WOLSEY

I do profess,
That for your highness' good I ever labour'd
More than mine own: that am, have, and will be — (Though all the world should crack their duty to you,
And throw it from their soul; though perils did
Abound, as thick as thought could make them, and Appear in forms more horrid) yet my duty,
As doth a rock against the chiding flood,
Should the approach of this wild river break,
And stand unshaken yours.

KING HENRY

'T is nobly spoken.
Take notice, lords, he has a loyal breast,
For you have seen him open 't. — Read o'er this:

Giving him Papers

And, after, this; and then to breakfast, with
What appetite you have.

Exit King, frowning upon Cardinal WOLSEY: the Nobles throng after him, smiling, and whispering

WOLSEY

What should this mean?
 What sudden anger 's this? how have I reap'd it?
 He parted frowning from me, as if ruin
 Leap'd from his eyes: so looks the chafed lion
 Upon the daring huntsman that has gall'd him,
 Then, makes him nothing. I must read this paper;
 I fear, the story of his anger. — 'T is so:
 This paper has undone me! — 'T is th' account
 Of all that world of wealth I have drawn together
 For mine own ends; indeed, to gain the popedom,
 And fee my friends in Rome. O negligence!
 Fit for a fool to fall by. What cross devil
 Made me put this main secret in the packet
 I sent the king? Is there no way to cure this?
 No new device to beat this from his brains?
 I know 't will stir him strongly; yet I know
 A way, if it take right, in spite of fortune
 Will bring me off again. What 's this? —

“To the Pope?”

The letter, as I live, with all the business
 I writ to his holiness. Nay then, farewell!
 I have touch'd the highest point of all my greatness,
 And from that full meridian of my glory,
 I haste now to my setting: I shall fall
 Like a bright exhalation in the evening,
 And no man see me more.

Re-enter the Dukes of NORFOLK and SUFFOLK, the Earl of SURREY, and the Lord Chamberlain

NORFOLK

Hear the king's pleasure, cardinal; who commands you
 To render up the great seal presently
 Into our hands, and to confine yourself
 To Asher-house, my lord of Winchester's,
 Till you hear farther from his highness.

WOLSEY

Stay:

Where 's your commission, lords? words cannot carry
Authority so weighty.

SUFFOLK

Who dare cross them,
Bearing the king's will from his mouth expressly?

WOLSEY

Till I find more than will, or words, to do it,
(I mean your malice) know, officious lords,
I dare, and must deny it. Now, I feel
Of what coarse metal ye are moulded, — envy.
How eagerly ye fellow my disgraces,
As if it fed ye! and how sleek and wanton
Ye appear in every thing may bring my ruin!
Follow your envious courses, men of malice;
You have Christian warrant for them, and, no doubt,
In time will find their fit rewards. That seal,
You ask with such a violence, the king,
(Mine, and your master) with his own hand gave me;
Bade me enjoy it, with the place and honours,
During my life, and to confirm his goodness,
Tied it by letters patent. Now, who 'll take it?

SURREY

The king that gave it.

WOLSEY

It must be himself, then.

SURREY

Thou art a proud traitor, priest.

WOLSEY

Proud lord, thou liest:

Within these forty hours Surrey durst better
Have burnt that tongue, than said so.

SURREY

Thy ambition,

Thou scarlet sin, robb'd this bewailing land
Of noble Buckingham, my father-in-law:
The heads of all thy brother cardinals,
(With thee, and all thy best parts bound together)
Weigh'd not a hair of his. Plague of your policy!
You sent me deputy for Ireland,
Far from his succour, from the king, from all
That might have mercy on the fault thou gav'st him;
Whilst your great goodness, out of holy pity,
Absolv'd him with an axe.

WOLSEY

This, and all else

This talking lord can lay upon my credit,
I answer, is most false. The duke by law
Found his deserts: how innocent I was
From any private malice in his end,
His noble jury and foul cause can witness.
If I lov'd many words, lord, I should tell you,
You have as little honesty as honour,
That in the way of loyalty and truth
Toward the king, my ever royal master,
Dare mate a sounder man than Surrey can be,
And all that love his follies.

SURREY

By my soul,

Your long coat, priest, protects you: thou should'st feel
My sword i' the life-blood of thee else. — My lords,
Can ye endure to hear this arrogance?
And from this fellow? If we live thus tamely,

King Henry VIII

To be thus jaded by a piece of scarlet,
Farewell nobility; let his grace go forward,
And dare us with his cap, like larks.

WOLSEY

All goodness

Is poison to thy stomach.

SURREY

Yes, that goodness
Of gleaning all the land's wealth into one,
Into your own hands, cardinal, by extortion;
The goodness of your intercepted packets,
You writ to the pope, against the king; your goodness,
Since you provoke me, shall be most notorious. —
My lord of Norfolk, — as you are truly noble,
As you respect the common good, the state
Of our despis'd nobility, or issues,
(Who, if he live, will scarce be gentlemen)
Produce the grand sum of his sins, the articles
Collected from his life: — I'll startle you
Worse than the sacring bell, when the brown wench
Lay kissing in your arms, lord cardinal.

WOLSEY

How much, methinks, I could despise this man,
But that I am bound in charity against it.

NORREY

Those articles, my lord, are in the king's hand;
But, thus much, they are foul ones.

WOLSEY

So much fairer.

And spotless, shall mine innocence arise,
When the king knows my truth.

SURREY

This cannot save you.

I thank my memory, I yet remember
Some of these articles; and out they shall.
Now, if you can blush, and cry guilty, cardinal,
You 'll show a little honesty.

WOLSEY

Speak on, Sir;
I dare your worst objections: if I blush,
It is to see a nobleman want manners.

SURREY

I had rather want those, than my head. Have at you.
First, that without the king's assent or knowledge,
You wrought to be a legate; by which power
You maim'd the jurisdiction of all bishops.

NORFOLK

Then, that in all you writ to Rome, or else
To foreign princes, Ego et Rex meus
Was still inscrib'd; in which you brought the king
To be your servant.

SUFFOLK

Then, that without the knowledge
Either of king or council, when you went
Ambassador to the emperor, you made bold
To carry into Flanders the great seal.

SURREY

Item, you sent a large commission
To Gregory de Cassalis, to conclude,
Without the king's will or the state's allowance,
A league between his highness and Ferrara.

SUFFOLK

That out of mere ambition you have caus'd
Your holy hat to be stamp'd on the king's coin.

SURREY

Then, that you have sent innumerable substance,
(By what means got, I leave to your own conscience)
To furnish Rome, and to prepare the ways
You have for dignities; to the mere undoing
Of all the kingdom. Many more there are;
Which, since they are of you, and odious,
I will not taint my mouth with.

CHAMBERLAIN

O my lord!
Press not a falling man too far; 't is virtue.
His faults lie open to the laws: let them,
Not you, correct him. My heart weeps to see him
So little of his great self.

SURREY

I forgive him.

SUFFOLK

Lord cardinal, the king's farther pleasure is, —
Because all those things, you have done of late
By your power legatine within this kingdom,
Fall into the compass of a præmunire, —
That therefore such a writ be sued against you;
To forfeit all your goods, lands, tenements,
Chattels, and whatsoever, and to be
Out of the king's protection. — This is my charge.

NORFOLK

And so we 'll leave you to your meditations,
How to live better. For your stubborn answer,
About the giving back the great seal to us,

The king shall know it, and, no doubt, shall thank you.
So, fare you well, my little good lord cardinal.

Exeunt all but WOLSEY

WOLSEY

So, farewell to the little good you bear me.
Farewell! a long farewell, to all my greatness!
This is the state of man: to-day he puts forth
The tender leaves of hopes, to-morrow blossoms,
And bears his blushing honours thick upon him:
The third day comes a frost, a killing frost;
And, — when he thinks, good easy man, full surely
His greatness is a ripening, — nips his root,
And then he falls, as I do. I have ventur'd,
Like little wanton boys that swim on bladders,
This many summers in a sea of glory,
But far beyond my depth: my high blown pride
At length broke under me; and now has left me
Weary, and old with service, to the mercy
Of a rude stream, that must for ever hide me.
Vain pomp and glory of this world, I hate ye:
I feel my heart new open'd. O! how wretched
Is that poor man, that hangs on princes' favours.
There is, betwixt that smile we would aspire to,
That sweet aspect of princes, and their ruin,
More pangs and fears than wars or women have;
And when he falls, he falls like Lucifer,
Never to hope again. —

Enter CROMWELL, amazedly

Why, how now, Cromwell!

CROMWELL

I have no power to speak, Sir.

WOLSEY

What! amaz'd

King Henry VIII

At my misfortunes? can thy spirit wonder,
A great man should decline? Nay, an you weep,
I am fallen indeed.

CROMWELL

How does your grace?

WOLSEY

Why, well:

Never so truly happy, my good Cromwell.
I know myself now; and I feel within me
A peace above all earthly dignities,
A still and quiet conscience. The king has cur'd me,
I humbly thank his grace, and from these shoulders,
These ruin'd pillars, out of pity, taken
A load would sink a navy — too much honour.
O! 't is a burden, Cromwell, 't is a burden,
Too heavy for a man that hopes for heaven.

CROMWELL

I am glad your grace has made that right use of it.

WOLSEY

I hope I have: I am able now, methinks,
(Out of a fortitude of soul I feel)
To endure more miseries, and greater far,
Than my weak-hearted enemies dare offer.
What news abroad?

CROMWELL

The heaviest, and the worst,
Is your displeasure with the king.

WOLSEY

God bless him!

CROMWELL

The next is, that Sir Thomas More is chosen
Lord Chancellor in your place.

WOLSEY

That 's somewhat sudden;
 But he 's a learned man. May he continue
 Long in his highness' favour, and do justice
 For truth's sake, and his conscience; that his bones,
 When he has run his course and sleeps in blessings,
 May have a tomb of orphans' tears wept on 'em!
 What more?

CROMWELL

That Cranmer is returned with welcome,
 Install'd lord archbishop of Canterbury.

WOLSEY

That 's news indeed!

CROMWELL

Last, that the lady Anne,
 Whom the king hath in secrecy long married,
 This day was view'd in open, as his queen,
 Going to chapel; and the voice is now
 Only about her coronation.

WOLSEY

There was the weight that pulled me down.

O Cromwell!

The king has gone beyond me: all my glories
 In that one woman I have lost for ever.
 No sun shall ever usher forth mine honours,
 Or gild again the noble troops that waited
 Upon my smiles. Go, get thee from me, Cromwell;
 I am a poor fallen man, unworthy now
 To be thy lord and master. Seek the king;
 (That sun, I pray, may never set!) I have told him
 What, and how true thou art: he will advance thee.
 Some little memory of me will stir him,
 (I know his noble nature) not to let
 Thy hopeful service perish too. Good Cromwell,

King Henry VIII

Neglect him not; make use now, and provide
For thine own future safety.

CROMWELL

O my lord!
Must I then leave you? must I needs forego
So good, so noble, and so true a master?
Bear witness all that have no hearts of iron,
With what a sorrow Cromwell leaves his lord. —
The king shall have my service; but my prayers,
For ever and for ever, shall be yours.

WOLSEY

Cromwell, I did not think to shed a tear
In all my miseries; but thou hast forc'd me,
Out of thy honest truth, to play the woman.
Let's dry our eyes; and thus far hear me, Cromwell:
And, — when I am forgotten, as I shall be,
And sleep in dull cold marble, where no mention
Of me more must be heard of, — say, I taught thee,
Say, Wolsey, that once trod the ways of glory,
And sounded all the depths and shoals of honour,
Found thee a way, out of his wreck, to rise in;
A sure and safe one, though thy master miss'd it.
Mark but my fall, and that that ruin'd me.
Cromwell, I charge thee, fling away ambition:
By that sin fell the angels; how can man, then,
The image of his Maker, hope to win by 't?
Love thyself last: cherish those hearts that hate thee:
Corruption wins not more than honesty.
Still in thy right hand carry gentle peace,
To silence envious tongues: be just, and fear not.
Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's,
Thy God's, and truth's: then, if thou fall'st,

O Cromwell!

Thou fall'st a blessed martyr.
Serve the king; and, — Pr'ythee, lead me in:
There take an inventory of all I have,

To the last penny; 't is the king's: my robe,
And my integrity to heaven, is all
I dare now call mine own. O Cromwell, Cromwell!
Had I but serv'd ray God with half the zeal
I serv'd my king, he would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies.

CROMWELL

Good Sir, have patience.

WOLSEY

So I have. Farewell
The hopes of court: my hopes in heaven do dwell.

Exeunt

ACT IV

Scene 1

A Street in Westminster

Enter Two Gentlemen, meeting

1 GENTLEMAN

You 're well met once again.

2 GENTLEMAN

So are you.

1 GENTLEMAN

You come to take your stand here, and behold
The lady Anne pass from her coronation?

2 GENTLEMAN

'T is all my business. At our last encounter,
The duke of Buckingham came from his trial.

1 GENTLEMAN

'T is very true; but that time offer'd sorrow,
This, general joy.

2 GENTLEMAN

'T is well: the citizens,
I am sure, have shown at full their royal minds;
As, let 'em have their rights, they are ever forward
In celebration of this day with shows,
Pageants, and sights of honour.

1 GENTLEMAN

Never greater;
Nor, I 'll assure you, better taken, Sir.

2 GENTLEMAN

May I be bold to ask what that contains,
That paper in your hand?

1 GENTLEMAN

Yes; 't is the list
Of those that claim their offices this day,
By custom of the coronation.
The duke of Suffolk is the first, and claims
To be high steward: next, the duke of Norfolk,
He to be earl marshal. You may read the rest.

2 GENTLEMAN

I thank you, Sir: had I not known those customs,
I should have been beholding to your paper.
But, I beseech you, what 's become of Katharine,
The princess dowager? how goes her business?

1 GENTLEMAN

That I can tell you too. The archbishop
Of Canterbury, accompanied with other
Learned and reverend fathers of his order,
Held a late court at Dunstable, six miles off
From Amphill, where the princess lay; to which
She was often cited by them, but appear'd not:
And, to be short, for not appearance, and
The king's late scruple, by the main assent
Of all these learned men she was divorc'd,
And the late marriage made of none effect:
Since which she was removed to Kimbolton,
Where she remains now, sick.

2 GENTLEMAN

Alas, good lady! —

Trumpets

The trumpets sound: stand close, the queen is coming

Hautboys

THE ORDER OF THE CORONATION

A lively flourish of Trumpets

1. Then, two Judges.
2. Lord Chancellor, with purse and mace before him.
3. Choristers singing.

Music

4. Mayor of London bearing the mace. Then, Garter in his coat of arms; and on his head, he wore a gilt copper crown.
5. Marquess Dorset, bearing a sceptre of gold; on his head a demi-coronal of gold. With him the Earl of Surrey, bearing the rod of silver with the dove; crowned with an earl's coronet. Collars of SS.
6. Duke of Suffolk, in his robe of estate, his coronet on his head, bearing a long white wand, as high-steward. With him, the Duke of Norfolk, with the rod of marshalship; a coronet on his head. Collars of SS.
7. A canopy borne by four of the Cinque-ports; under it, the Queen in her robe; in her hair, richly adorned with pearl, crowned. On each side her, the Bishops of London and Winchester.
8. The old Duchess of Norfolk, in a coronal of gold, wrought with flowers, bearing the Queen's train.
9. Certain Ladies or Countesses, with plain circlets of gold without flowers.

2 GENTLEMAN

A royal train, believe me. — These I know:
Who 's that, that bears the sceptre?

1 GENTLEMAN

Marquess Dorset:

And that the earl of Surrey, with the rod.

2 GENTLEMAN

A bold brave gentleman. That should be
The duke of Suffolk.

1 GENTLEMAN

'T is the same; high-steward.

King Henry VIII

2 GENTLEMAN

And that my lord of Norfolk?

1 GENTLEMAN

Yes.

2 GENTLEMAN

Heaven bless thee!

Looking on the Queen

Thou hast the sweetest face I ever look'd on. —
Sir, as I have a soul, she is an angel:
Our king has all the Indies in his arms,
And more, and richer, when he strains that lady:
I cannot blame his conscience.

1 GENTLEMAN

They, that bear
The cloth of honour over her, are four barons
Of the cinque-ports.

2 GENTLEMAN

Those men are happy; and so are all, are near her.
I take it, she that carries up the train
Is that old noble lady, duchess of Norfolk.

1 GENTLEMAN

It is; and all the rest are countesses.

2 GENTLEMAN

Their coronets say so. These are stars, indeed;
And sometimes falling ones.

1 GENTLEMAN

No more of that.

Exit Procession, with a great flourish of Trumpets

Enter a third Gentleman

God save you, Sir! Where have you been broiling?

3 GENTLEMAN

Among the crowd i' the abbey; where a finger
 Could not be wedg'd in more: I am stifled
 With the mere rankness of their joy.

2 GENTLEMAN

You saw the ceremony?

3 GENTLEMAN

That I did.

1 GENTLEMAN

How was it?

3 GENTLEMAN

Well worth the seeing.

2 GENTLEMAN

Good Sir, speak it to us.

3 GENTLEMAN

As well as I am able. The rich stream
 Of lords, and ladies, having brought the queen
 To a prepar'd place in the choir, fell off
 A distance from her; while her grace sat down
 To rest a while, some half an hour or so,
 In a rich chair of state, opposing freely
 The beauty of her person to the people.
 Believe me, Sir, she is the goodliest woman
 That ever lay by man: which when the people
 Had the full view of, such a noise arose
 As the shrouds make at sea in a stiff tempest,
 As loud, and to as many tunes: hats, cloaks,
 (Doublets, I think) flew up; and had their faces
 Been loose, this day they had been lost. Such joy
 I never saw before. Great-bellied women,
 That had not half a week to go, like rams
 In the old time of war, would shake the press,

King Henry VIII

And make them reel before them. No man living
Could say, "This is my wife," there; all were woven
So strangely in one piece.

2 GENTLEMAN

But, what follow'd?

3 GENTLEMAN

At length her grace rose, and with modest paces
Came to the altar; where she kneel'd, and saint like
Cast her fair eyes to heaven, and pray'd devoutly.
Then rose again, and bow'd her to the people:
When by the archbishop of Canterbury
She had all the royal makings of a queen;
As holy oil, Edward Confessor's crown,
The rod, and bird of peace, and all such emblems
Laid nobly on her: which perform'd, the choir,
With all the choicest music of the kingdom,
Together sung Te Deum. So she parted,
And with the same full state pac'd back again
To York-place, where the feast is held.

1 GENTLEMAN

Sir,
You must no more call it York-place, that 's past;
For, since the cardinal fell, that title 's lost:
'T is now the king's, and call'd — Whitehall.

3 GENTLEMAN

I know it;
But 't is so lately alter'd, that the old name
Is fresh about me.

2 GENTLEMAN

What two reverend bishops
Were those that went on each side of the queen?

3 GENTLEMAN

Stokesly and Gardiner; the one of Winchester,
Newly preferr'd from the king's secretary;
The other, London.

2 GENTLEMAN

He of Winchester
Is held no great good lover of the archbishop's,
The virtuous Cranmer.

3 GENTLEMAN

All the land knows that:
However, yet there 's no great breach; when it comes,
Cranmer will find a friend will not shrink from him.

2 GENTLEMAN

Who may that be, I pray you?

3 GENTLEMAN

Thomas Cromwell;
A man in much esteem with the king, and truly
A worthy friend. — The king has made him
Master o' the jewel-house,
And one, already, of the privy-council.

2 GENTLEMAN

He will deserve more.

3 GENTLEMAN

Yes, without all doubt.
Come, gentlemen, ye shall go my way, which
Is to the court, and there ye shall be my guests:
Something I can command. As I walk thither,
I 'll tell ye more.

BOTH

You may command us, Sir.

Exeunt

Scene 2

Kimbolton

Enter KATHARINE, Dowager, sick; led between GRIFFITH and PATIENCE

GRIFFITH

How does your grace?

KATHARINE

O, Griffith! sick to death:
My legs, like loaden branches, bow to the earth,
Willing to leave their burden. Reach a chair: —
So, — now, methinks, I feel a little ease.
Didst thou not tell me, Griffith, as thou led'st me,
That the great child of honour, cardinal Wolsey,
Was dead?

GRIFFITH

Yes, Madam; but, I think, your grace,
Out of the pain you suffer'd, gave no ear to 't.

KATHARINE

Pr'ythee, good Griffith, tell me how he died:
If well, he stepp'd before me, happily,
For my example.

GRIFFITH

Well, the voice goes, Madam:
For after the stout earl Northumberland
Arrested him at York, and brought him forward,
As a man sorely tainted, to his answer,
He fell sick suddenly, and grew so ill,
He could not sit his mule.

KATHARINE

Alas, poor man!

GRIFFITH

At last, with easy roads, he came to Leicester;
 Lodg'd in the abbey, where the reverend abbot,
 With all his convent, honourably receiv'd him:
 To whom he gave these words, — “O father abbot,
 An old man, broken with the storms of state,
 Is come to lay his weary bones among ye;
 Give him a little earth for charity!”
 So went to bed, where eagerly his sickness
 Pursu'd him still; and three nights after this,
 About the hour of eight, which he himself
 Foretold should be his last, full of repentance,
 Continual meditations, tears, and sorrows,
 He gave his honours to the world again,
 His blessed part to heaven, and slept in peace.

KATHARINE

So may he rest: his faults lie gently on him!
 Yet thus far, Griffith, give me leave to speak him,
 And yet with charity. — He was a man
 Of an unbounded stomach, ever ranking
 Himself with princes; one, that by suggestion
 Tied all the kingdom: simony was fair play;
 His own opinion was his law: i' the presence
 He would say untruths, and be ever double,
 Both in his words and meaning. He was never,
 But where he meant to ruin, pitiful:
 His promises were, as he then was, mighty;
 But his performance, as he is now; nothing.
 Of his own body he was ill, and gave
 The clergy ill example.

GRIFFITH

Noble Madam,
 Men's evil manners live in brass; their virtues
 We write in water. May it please your highness
 To hear me speak his good now?

KATHARINE

Yes, good Griffith;

I were malicious else.

GRIFFITH

This cardinal,
Though from an humble stock, undoubtedly
Was fashion'd to much honour from his cradle.
He was a scholar, and a ripe, and good one;
Exceeding wise, fair spoken, and persuading:
Lofty and sour to them that lov'd him not;
But, to those men that sought him, sweet as summer:
And though he were unsatisfied in getting,
(Which was a sin) yet in bestowing, Madam,
He was most princely. Ever witness for him
Those twins of learning, that he rais'd in you,
Ipswich, and Oxford! one of which fell with him,
Unwilling to outlive the good that did it;
The other, though unfinish'd, yet so famous,
So excellent in art, and still so rising,
That Christendom shall ever speak his virtue.
His overthrow heap'd happiness upon him;
For then, and not till then, he felt himself,
And found the blessedness of being little:
And, to add greater honours to his age
Than man could give him, he died fearing God.

KATHARINE

After my death I wish no other herald,
No other speaker of my living actions,
To keep mine honour from corruption,
But such an honest chronicler as Griffith.
Whom I most hated living, thou hast made me,
With thy religious truth and modesty,
Now in his ashes honour. Peace be with him! —
Patience, be near me still; and set me lower:
I have not long to trouble thee. — Good Griffith,

Cause the musicians play me that sad note
 I nam'd my knell, whilst I sit meditating
 On that celestial harmony I go to.

Sad and solemn music

GRIFFITH

She is asleep. Good wench, let 's sit down quiet,
 For fear we wake her: — softly, gentle Patience.

The Vision. Enter, solemnly tripping one after another, six Personages, clad in white robes, wearing on their heads garlands of bays, and golden vizards on their faces; branches of bays, or palm, in their hands. They first congee unto her, then dance; and, at certain changes, the first two hold a spare garland over her head; at which, the other four make reverend curt'sies: then, the two that held the garland deliver the same to the other next two, who observe the same order in their changes, and holding the garland over her head. Which done, they deliver the same garland to the last two, who likewise observe the same order: at which, (as it were by inspiration) she makes in her sleep signs of rejoicing, and holdeth up her hands to heaven. And so in their dancing they vanish, carrying the garland with them. The music continues

KATHARINE

Spirits of peace, where are ye? Are ye all gone,
 And leave me here in wretchedness behind ye?

GRIFFITH

Madam, we are here.

KATHARINE

It is not you I call for.
 Saw ye none enter, since I slept?

GRIFFITH

None, Madam.

KATHARINE

No! Saw you not, even now a blessed troop
 Invite me to a banquet; whose bright faces
 Cast thousand beams upon me, like the sun?
 They promis'd me eternal happiness,

King Henry VIII

And brought me garlands, Griffith, which I feel
I am not worthy yet to wear: I shall, assuredly.

GRIFFITH

I am most joyful, Madam, such good dreams
Possess your fancy.

KATHARINE

Bid the music leave,
They are harsh and heavy to me.

Music ceases

PATIENCE

Do you note,
How much her grace is alter'd on the sudden?
How long her face is drawn? How pale she looks,
And of an earthy cold? Mark her eyes!

GRIFFITH

She is going, wench. Pray, pray.

PATIENCE

Heaven comfort her!

Enter a Messenger

MESSENGER

An 't like your grace, —

KATHARINE

You are a saucy fellow:
Deserve we no more reverence?

GRIFFITH

You are to blame,
Knowing she will not lose her wonted greatness,
To use so rude behaviour: go to; kneel.

MESSENGER

I humbly do entreat your highness' pardon;
My haste made me unmannerly. There is staying
A gentleman, sent from the king to see you.

KATHARINE

Admit him entrance, Griffith: but this fellow
Let me ne'er see again.

Exeunt GRIFFITH and Messenger

Re-enter GRIFFITH, with CAPUCIUS

If my sight fail not,
You should be lord ambassador from the emperor,
My royal nephew; and your name Capucius

CAPUCIUS

Madam, the same, your servant.

KATHARINE

O my lord!
The times, and titles, now are alter'd strangely
With me, since first you knew me. But, I pray you,
What is your pleasure with me?

CAPUCIUS

Noble lady,
First, mine own service to your grace; the next,
The king's request that I would visit you;
Who grieves much for your weakness, and by me
Sends you his princely commendations,
And heartily entreats you take good comfort.

KATHARINE

O! my good lord, that comfort comes too late:
'T is like a pardon after execution.
That gentle physic, given in time, had cur'd me;
But now I am past all comforts here, but prayers.
How does his highness?

CAPUCIUS

Madam, in good health.

KATHARINE

So may he ever do; and ever flourish,
When I shall dwell with worms, and my poor name
Banish'd the kingdom. — Patience, is that letter,
I caus'd you write, yet sent away?

PATIENCE

No, Madam.

Giving it to KATHARINE

KATHARINE

Sir, I most humbly pray you to deliver
This to my lord the king.

CAPUCIUS

Most willing, Madam.

KATHARINE

In which I have commended to his goodness
The model of our chaste loves, his young daughter: —
The dews of heaven fall thick in blessings on her!
Beseeching him to give her virtuous breeding.
She is young, and of a noble modest nature,
I hope, she will deserve well; and a little
To love her for her mother's sake, that lov'd him,
Heaven knows how dearly. My next poor petition
Is, that his noble grace would have some pity
Upon my wretched women, that so long,
Have follow'd both my fortunes faithfully:
Of which there is not one, I dare avow,
(And now I should not lie) but will deserve,
For virtue, and true beauty of the soul,
For honesty, and decent carriage,
A right good husband, let him be a noble;

And, sure, those men are happy that shall have them.
 The last is, for my men: — they are the poorest,
 But poverty could never draw them from me; —
 That they may have their wages duly paid them,
 And something over to remember me by:
 If heaven had pleas'd to have given me longer life,
 And able means, we had not parted thus.
 These are the whole contents: — and, good my lord,
 By that you love the dearest in this world,
 As you wish Christian peace to souls departed,
 Stand these poor people's friend, and urge the king
 To do me this last right.

CAPUCIUS

By heaven, I will,
 Or let me lose the fashion of a man!

KATHARINE

I thank you, honest lord. Remember me
 In all humility unto his highness:
 Say, his long trouble now is passing
 Out of this world: tell him, in death I bless'd him,
 For so I will. — Mine eyes grow dim. — Farewell,
 My lord. — Griffith, farewell. — Nay, Patience,
 You must not leave me yet: I must to bed;
 Call in more women. — When I am dead, good wench,
 Let me be us'd with honour: strew me over
 With maiden flowers, that all the world may know
 I was a chaste wife to my grave. Embalm me,
 Then lay me forth: although unqueen'd, yet like
 A queen, and daughter to a king, inter me.
 I can no more. —

Exeunt, leading KATHARINE

ACT V

Scene 1

A Gallery in the Palace

Enter GARDINER, Bishop of Winchester, a Page with a Torch before him; met by Sir THOMAS LOVELL

GARDINER

It 's one o'clock, boy, is 't not?

BOY

It hath struck.

GARDINER

These should be hours for necessities,
Not for delights; times to repair our nature
With comforting repose, and not for us
To waste these times. — Good hour of night,
Sir Thomas:
Whither so late?

LOVELL

Came you from the king, my lord?

GARDINER

I did, Sir Thomas; and left him at primero
With the duke of Suffolk.

LOVELL

I must to him too,
Before he go to bed. I 'll take my leave.

GARDINER

Not yet, Sir Thomas Lovell. What 's the matter?
It seems you are in haste: an if there be
No great offence belongs to 't, give your friend
Some touch of your late business. Affairs that walk
(As, they say, spirits do) at midnight have

King Henry VIII

In them a wilder nature, than the business
That seeks despatch by day.

LOVELL

My lord, I love you,
And durst commend a secret to your ear
Much weightier than this work. The queen 's in labour,
They say, in great extremity; and fear'd,
She 'll with the labour end.

GARDINER

The fruit she goes with
I pray for heartily; that it may find
Good time, and live: but for the stock, Sir Thomas,
I wish it grubb'd up now.

LOVELL

Methinks, I could
Cry the amen; and yet my conscience says
She 's a good creature, and, sweet lady, does
Deserve our better wishes.

GARDINER

But, Sir, Sir, —
Hear me, Sir Thomas: y' are a gentleman
Of mine own way; I know you wise, religious;
And, let me tell you, it will ne'er be well,
'T will not, Sir Thomas Lovell, take 't of me,
Till Cranmer, Cromwell, her two hands, and she,
Sleep in their graves.

LOVELL

Now, Sir, you speak of two
The most remark'd i' the kingdom. As for Cromwell,
Beside that of the jewel-house, he 's made master
O' the rolls, and the king's secretary; farther, Sir,
Stands in the gap and trade of more preferments,
With which the time will load him. Th' archbishop

Is the king's hand, and tongue; and who dare speak
One syllable against him?

GARDINER

Yes, yes, Sir Thomas,
There are that dare; and I myself have ventur'd
To speak my mind of him: and, indeed, this day,
Sir, (I may tell it you) I think, I have Incens'd the lords o' the council, that he is
(For so I know he is, they know he is)
A most arch heretic, a pestilence
That does infect the land: with which they moved
Have broken with the king; who hath so far
Given ear to our complaint, (of his great grace
And princely care, foreseeing those fell mischiefs
Our reasons laid before him) hath commanded,
To-morrow morning to the council-board
He be convented. He 's a rank weed, Sir Thomas,
And we must root him out. From your affairs
I hinder you too long: good night, Sir Thomas.

LOVELL

Many good nights, my lord. I rest your servant.

Exeunt GARDINER and Page

As LOVELL is going out, enter the King, and the Duke of SUFFOLK

KING HENRY

Charles, I will play no more to-night:
My mind 's not on 't; you are too hard for me.

SUFFOLK

Sir, I did never win of you before.

KING HENRY

But little, Charles;
Nor shall not when my fancy 's on my play. —
Now, Lovell, from the queen what is the news?

King Henry VIII

LOVELL

I could not personally deliver to her
What you commanded me, but by her woman
I seat your message; who return'd her thanks
In the greatest humbleness, and desir'd your highness
Most heartily to pray for her.

KING HENRY

What say'st thou? ha!
To pray for her? what! is she crying out?

LOVELL

So said her woman; and that her sufferance made
Almost each pang a death.

KING HENRY

Alas, good lady!

SUFFOLK

God safely quit her of her burden, and
With gentle travail, to the gladding of
Your highness with an heir!

KING HENRY

'T is midnight, Charles:
Pr'ythee, to bed; and in thy prayers remember
Th' estate of my poor queen. Leave me alone,
For I must think of that, which company
Would not be friendly to.

SUFFOLK

I wish your highness
A quiet night; and my good mistress will Remember in my prayers.

KING HENRY

Charles, good night. —

Exit SUFFOLK

Enter Sir ANTHONY DENNY

Well, Sir, what follows?

DENNY

Sir, I have brought my lord the archbishop,
As you commanded me.

KING HENRY

Ha! Canterbury?

DENNY

Ay, my good lord.

KING HENRY

'T is true: where is he, Denny?

DENNY

He attends your highness' pleasure.

KING HENRY

Bring him to us.

Exit DENNY

LOVELL

Aside

This is about that which the bishop spake:
I am happily come hither.

Re-enter DENNY, with CRANMER

KING HENRY

Avoid the gallery.

LOVELL seems to stay

Ha! — I have said. — Be gone.
What! —

Exeunt LOVELL and DENNY

King Henry VIII

CRANMER

I am fearful. — Wherefore frowns he thus?
'T is his aspect of terror: all 's not well.

KING HENRY

How now, my lord! You do desire to know
Wherefore I sent for you.

CRANMER

It is my duty
T' attend your highness' pleasure.

KING HENRY

Pray you, arise,
My good and gracious lord of Canterbury.
Come, you and I must walk a turn together;
I have news to tell you. Come, come, give me your hand.

Ah, my good lord, I grieve at what I speak,
And am right sorry to repeat what follows.
I have, and most unwillingly, of late
Heard many grievous, I do say, my lord,
Grievous complaints of you; which being consider'd
Have mov'd us and our council, that you shall
This morning come before us: where I know,
You cannot with such freedom purge yourself,
But that, till farther trial in those charges
Which will require your answer, you must take
Your patience to you, and be well contented
To make your house our Tower: you a brother of us,
It fits we thus proceed, or else no witness
Would come against you.

CRANMER

I humbly thank your highness,
And am right glad to catch this good occasion
Most throughly to be winnow'd, where my chaff

And corn shall fly asunder; for, I know,
 There 's none stands under more calumnious tongues,
 Than I myself, poor man.

KING HENRY

Stand up, good Canterbury:
 Thy truth, and thy integrity, is rooted
 In us, thy friend. Give me thy hand, stand up:
 Pr'ythee, let 's walk. Now, by my holy dame,
 What manner of man are you? My lord, I look'd
 You would have given me your petition, that
 I should have ta'en some pains to bring together
 Yourself and your accusers; and to have heard you,
 Without indurance, farther.

CRANMER

Most dread liege,
 The good I stand on, is my truth, and honesty:
 If they shall fail, I, with mine enemies,
 Will triumph o'er my person, which I weigh not,
 Being of those virtues vacant. I fear nothing
 What can be said against me.

KING HENRY

Know you not
 How your state stands i' the world, with the whole world?
 Your enemies are many, and not small; their practices
 Must bear the same proportion: and not ever
 The justice and the truth o' the question carries
 The due o' the verdict with it. At what ease
 Might corrupt minds procure knaves as corrupt
 To swear against you: such things have been done.
 You are potently oppos'd, and with a malice
 Of as great size. Ween you of better luck,
 I mean in perjur'd witness, than your Master,
 Whose minister you are, whiles here he liv'd
 Upon this naughty earth? Go to, go to:

Fly o'er thy royal head, and shade thy person
Under their blessed wings!

KING HENRY

Now, by thy looks
I guess thy message. Is the queen deliver'd?
Say, ay; and of a boy.

LADY

Ay, ay, my liege;
And of a lovely boy: the God of heaven
Both now and ever bless her! — 't is a girl,
Promises boys hereafter. Sir, your queen
Desires your visitation, and to be
Acquainted with this stranger: 't is as like you,
As cherry is to cherry.

KING HENRY

Lovell, —

Re-enter LOVELL

LOVELL

Sir.

KING HENRY

Give her an hundred marks. I 'll to the queen.

Exit King

LADY

An hundred marks! By this light, I 'll ha' more.
An ordinary groom is for such payment:
I will have more, or scold it out of him.
Said I for this, the girl was like to him?
I will have more, or else unsay 't; and now,
While it is hot, I 'll put it to the issue.

Exeunt

Scene 2

The Lobby before the Council-Chamber.

Enter CRANMER; Servants, Door-Keeper, &c. attending

CRANMER

I hope, I am not too late; and yet the gentleman,
That was sent to me from the council, pray'd me
To make great haste. All fast? what means this? Ho! —
Who waits there? — Sure, you know me?

DOOR-KEEPER

Yes, my lord;

But yet I cannot help you.

CRANMER

Why?

DOOR-KEEPER

Your grace must wait, till you be call'd for.

Enter Doctor BUTTS

CRANMER

So.

BUTTS

This is a piece of malice. I am glad,
I came this way so happily: the king
Shall understand it presently.

Exit BUTTS

CRANMER

Aside

'T is Butts,

The king's physician. As he past along,
How earnestly he cast his eyes upon me.
Pray heaven, he sound not my disgrace! For certain,
This is of purpose laid by some that hate me,
(God turn their hearts! I never sought their malice)

CRANMER approaches the Council-table

CHANCELLOR

My good lord archbishop, I am very sorry
 To sit here at this present, and behold
 That chair stand empty: but we all are men,
 In our own natures frail, and capable
 Of our flesh; few are angels: out of which frailty,
 And want of wisdom, you, that best should teach us,
 Have misdemean'd yourself, and not a little,
 Toward the king first, then his laws, in filling
 The whole realm, by your teaching, and your chaplains,
 (For so we are inform'd) with new opinions,
 Divers, and dangerous; which are heresies,
 And, not reform'd, may prove pernicious.

GARDINER

Which reformation must be sudden too,
 My noble lords; for those that tame wild horses
 Pace them not in their hands to make them gentle,
 But stop their mouths with stubborn bits,
and spur them,
 Till they obey the manage. If we suffer,
 Out of our easiness and childish pity
 To one man's honour, this contagious sickness,
 Farewell all physic: and what follows then?
 Commotions, uproars, with a general taint
 Of the whole state: as, of late days, our neighbours,
 The upper Germany, can dearly witness,
 Yet freshly pitied in our memories.

CRANMER

My good lords, hitherto, in all the progress
 Both of my life and office, I have labour'd,
 And with no little study, that my teaching,
 And the strong course of my authority,
 Might go one way, and safely; and the end
 Was ever, to do well: nor is there living

King Henry VIII

(I speak it with a single heart, my lords,)
A man, that more detests, more stirs against,
Both in his private conscience and his place.
Defacers of a public peace, than I do.
Pray heaven, the king may never find a heart
With less allegiance in it! Men, that make
Envy and crooked malice nourishment,
Dare bite the best. I do beseech your lordships,
That in this case of justice, my accusers,
Be what they will, may stand forth face to face,
And freely urge against me.

SUFFOLK

Nay, my lord,
That cannot be: you are a counsellor,
And by that virtue no man dare accuse you.

GARDINER

My lord, because we have business of more moment,
We will be short with you. 'T is his highness' pleasure,
And our consent, for better trial of you,
From hence you be committed to the Tower:
Where, being but a private man again,
You shall know many dare accuse you boldly,
More than, I fear, you are provided for.

CRANMER

Ah! my good lord of Winchester, I thank you;
You are always my good friend: if your will pass,
I shall both find your lordship judge and juror,
You are so merciful. I see your end;
'T is my undoing. Love, and meekness, lord,
Become a churchman better than ambition:
Win straying souls with modesty again,
Cast none away. That I shall clear myself,
Lay all the weight ye can upon my patience,
I make as little doubt, as you do conscience,

In doing daily wrongs. I could say more,
But reverence to your calling makes me modest.

GARDINER

My lord, my lord, you are a sectary;
That 's the plain truth: your painted gloss discovers,
To men that understand you, words and weakness.

CROMWELL

My lord of Winchester, you are a little,
By your good favour, too sharp: men so noble,
However faulty, yet should find respect
For what they have been: 't is a cruelty,
To load a falling man.

GARDINER

Good master secretary,
I cry your honour mercy: you may, worst
Of all this table, say so.

CROMWELL

Why, my lord?

GARDINER

Do not I know you for a favourer
Of this new sect? ye are not sound.

CROMWELL

Not sound?

GARDINER

Not sound, I say.

CROMWELL

Would you were half so honest;
Men's prayers, then, would seek you, not their fears.

GARDINER

I shall remember this bold language.

King Henry VIII

CROMWELL

Do.

Remember your bold life too.

CHANCELLOR

This is too much;

Forbear, for shame, my lords.

GARDINER

I have done.

CROMWELL

And I.

CHANCELLOR

Then thus for you, my lord. — It stands agreed,
I take it, by all voices, that forthwith
You be convey'd to the Tower a prisoner;
There to remain, till the king's farther pleasure
Be known unto us. Are you all agreed, lords?

ALL

We are.

CRANMER

Is there no other way of mercy,
But I must needs to the Tower, my lords?

GARDINER

What other

Would you expect? You are strangely troublesome.
Let some o' the guard be ready there.

Enter Guard

CRANMER

For me?

Must I go like a traitor thither?

GARDINER

Receive him,

And see him safe i' the Tower.

CRANMER

Stay, good my lords;
 I have a little yet to say. — Look there, my lords:
 By virtue of that ring I take my cause
 Out of the gripes of cruel men, and give it
 To a most noble judge, the king my master.

CHAMBERLAIN

This is the king's ring.

SURREY

'T is no counterfeit.

SUFFOLK

'T is the right ring, by heaven! I told ye all,
 When we first put this dangerous stone a rolling,
 'T would fall upon ourselves.

NORFOLK

Do you think, my lords,
 The king will suffer but the little finger
 Of this man to be vex'd?

CHAMBERLAIN

'T is now too certain,
 How much more is his life in value with him.
 Would I were fairly out on 't.

CROMWELL

My mind gave me,
 In seeking tales and informations,
 Against this man, whose honesty the devil
 And his disciples only envy at,
 Ye blew the fire that burns ye. Now have at ye.

Enter the King, frowning on them; he takes his seat

King Henry VIII

GARDINER

Dread sovereign, how much are we bound to heaven
In daily thanks, that gave us such a prince;
Not only good and wise, but most religious:
One that in all obedience makes the church
The chief aim of his honour; and, to strengthen
That holy duty, out of dear respect;
His royal self in judgment comes to hear
The cause betwixt her and this great offender.

KING HENRY

You were ever good at sudden commendations,
Bishop of Winchester; but know, I come not
To hear such flattery now, and in my presence:
They are too thin and base to hide offences.
To me you cannot reach. You play the spaniel,
And think with wagging of your tongue to win me;
But, whatsoe'er thou tak'st me for, I 'm sure,
Thou hast a cruel nature, and a bloody. —
Good man,

To CRANMER

sit down. Now, let me see the proudest,
He that dares most, but wag his finger at thee:
By all that 's holy, he had better starve,
Than but once think his place becomes thee not.

SURREY

May it please your grace, —

KING HENRY

No, Sir, it does not please me.
I had thought, I had had men of some understanding
And wisdom of my council; but I find none.
Was it discretion, lords, to let this man,
This good man, (few of you deserve that title)
This honest man, wait like a lousy footboy
At chamber door? and one as great as you are?

Why, what a shame was this! Did my commission
 Bid ye so far forget yourselves? I gave ye
 Power, as he was a councillor to try him,
 Not as a groom. There 's some of ye, I see,
 More out of malice than integrity,
 Would try him to the utmost, had ye mean;
 Which ye shall never have while I live.

CHANCELLOR

Thus far,
 My most dread sovereign, may it like your grace
 To let my tongue excuse all. What was purpos'd
 Concerning his imprisonment, was rather
 (If there be faith in men) meant for his trial,
 And fair purgation to the world, than malice,
 I 'm sure, in me.

KING HENRY

Well, well, my lords, respect him:
 Take him, and use him well; he 's worthy of it.
 I will say thus much for him: if a prince
 May be beholding to a subject, I
 Am, for his love and service, so to him.
 Make me no more ado, but all embrace him:
 Be friends, for shame, my lords! — My lord
of Canterbury,
 I have a suit which you must not deny me;
 That is, a fair young maid that yet wants baptism,
 You must be godfather, and answer for her.

CRANMER

The greatest monarch now alive may glory
 In such an honour: how may I deserve it,
 That am a poor and humble subject to you?

KING HENRY

Come, come, my lord, you 'd spare your spoons.
 You shall have two noble partners with you;

King Henry VIII

The old duchess of Norfolk, and lady marquess Dorset:
Will these please you?
Once more, my lord of Winchester, I charge you,
Embrace, and love this man.

GARDINER

With a true heart,
And brother-love, I do it.

CRANMER

And let heaven
Witness, how dear I hold this confirmation.

KING HENRY

Good man! those joyful tears show thy true heart.
The common voice, I see, is verified
Of thee, which says thus, "Do my lord of Canterbury
A shrewd turn, and he is your friend for ever." —
Come, lords, we trifle time away; I long
To have this young one made a Christian.
As I have made ye one, lords, one remain;
So I grow stronger, you more honour gain.

Exeunt

Scene 3

The Palace Yard

Noise and Tumult within. Enter Porter and his Man

PORTER. You 'll leave your noise anon, ye rascals: do you take the court for Paris-garden? ye rude slaves, leave your gaping.

WITHIN. Good master porter, I belong to the larder.

PORTER. Belong to the gallows, and be hanged, you rogue! Is this a place to roar in? — Fetch me a dozen crab-tree staves, and strong ones: these are but switches to them. — I 'll scratch your heads: you must be seeing christenings? Do you look for ale and cakes here, you rude rascals?

MAN

Pray, Sir, be patient: 't is as much impossible,
 Unless we sweep 'em from the door with cannons,
 To scatter 'em, as 't is to make 'em sleep
 On May-day morning; which will never be.
 We may as well push against Paul's, as stir 'em.

PORTER

How got they in, and be hang'd?

MAN

Alas, I know not: how gets the tide in?
 As much as one sound cudgel of four foot
 (You see the poor remainder) could distribute,
 I made no spare, Sir.

PORTER

You did no thing, Sir.

MAN

I am not Samson, nor Sir Guy, nor Colbrand,
 To mow 'em down before me; but if I spared any,
 That had a head to hit, either young or old,
 He or she, cuckold or cuckold-maker,
 Let me ne'er hope to see a chine again;
 And that I would not for a cow, God save her.

WITHIN

Do your hear, master Porter?

PORTER

I shall be with you presently, good master puppy. —
 Keep the door close, sirrah.

MAN

What would you have me do?

King Henry VIII

PORTER. What should you do, but knock 'em down by the dozens? Is this Moorfields to muster in? or have we some strange Indian with the great tool come to court, the women so besiege us? Bless me, what a fry of fornication is at door! On my Christian conscience, this one christening will beget a thousand: here will be father, godfather, and all together.

MAN. The spoons will be the bigger, Sir. There is a fellow somewhat near the door, he should be a brazier by his face, for, o' my conscience, twenty of the dog-days now reign in 's nose: all that stand about him are under the line, they need no other penance. That fire-drake did I hit three times on the head, and three times was his nose discharged against me: he stands there, like a mortar-piece, to blow us. There was a haberdasher's wife of small wit near him, that railed upon me till her pink'd porringer fell off her head, for kindling such a combustion in the state. I miss'd the meteor once, and hit that woman, who cried out, clubs! when I might see from far some forty truncheoners draw to her succour, which were the hope o' the Strand, where she was quartered. They fell on; I made good my place; at length they came to the broomstaff to me: I defied 'em still; when suddenly a file of boys behind 'em, loose shot, delivered such a shower of pebbles, that I was fain to draw mine honour in, and let 'em win the work. The devil was amongst 'em, I think, surely.

PORTER. These are the youths that thunder at a play-house, and fight for bitten apples; that nor audience, but the Tribulation of Tower-hill, or the limbs of Limehouse, their dear brothers, are able to endure. I have some of 'em in Limbo Patrum, and there they are like to dance these three days, besides the running banquet of two beadles, that is to come.

Enter the Lord Chamberlain

CHAMBERLAIN

Mercy o' me, what a multitude are here!
They grow still too; from all parts they are coming,
As if we kept a fair here! Where are these porters,

These lazy knaves? — Ye have made a fine hand,
fellows:

There 's a trim rabble let in. Are all these
 Your faithful friends o' the suburbs? We shall have Great store of room, no doubt, left for the ladies,
 When they pass back from the christening.

PORTER

An 't please your honour

We are but men; and what so many may do,
 Not being torn a pieces, we have done:
 An army cannot rule 'em.

CHAMBERLAIN

As I live,

If the king blame me for 't, I 'll lay ye all
 By the heels, and suddenly; and on your heads
 Clap round fines for neglect. Y' are lazy knaves;
 And here ye lie baiting of bombards, when
 Ye should do service. Hark! the trumpets sound;
 They 're come already from the christening.
 Go, break among the press, and find a way out
 To let the troop pass fairly, or I 'll find
 A Marshalsea shall hold ye play these two months.

PORTER

Make way there for the princess.

MAN

You great fellow,

Stand close up, or I 'll make your head ache.

PORTER

You i' the camblet, get up o' the rail;
 I 'll peck you o'er the pales else.

King Henry VIII

Scene 4

The Palace at Greenwich

Enter Trumpets, sounding; then two Aldermen, Lord Mayor, Garter, CRANMER, Duke of NORFOLK, with his Marshal's staff, Duke of SUFFOLK, two Noblemen bearing great standing bowls for the christening gifts: then, four Noblemen bearing a canopy, under which the Duchess of NORFOLK, godmother, bearing the child richly habited in a mantle, &c. Train borne by a Lady: then follows the Marchioness of DORSET, the other godmother, and Ladies. The Troop pass once about the stage, and Garter speaks

GARTER

Heaven,
From thy endless goodness, send prosperous life,
Long, and ever happy, to the high and mighty
Princess of England, Elizabeth!

Flourish. Enter King, and Train

CRANMER

And to your royal grace, and the good queen,

Kneeling

My noble partners, and myself, thus pray: —
All comfort, joy, in this most gracious lady,
Heaven ever laid up to make parents happy,
May hourly fall upon ye!

KING HENRY

Thank you, good lord archbishop;
What is her name?

CRANMER

Elizabeth.

KING HENRY

Stand up, lord. —

The King kisses the Child

With this kiss take my blessing: God protect thee!
 Into whose hand I give thy life.

CRANMER

Amen.

KING HENRY

My noble gossips, ye have been too prodigal.
 I thank ye heartily: so shall this lady,
 When she has so much English.

CRANMER

Let me speak, Sir,
 For Heaven now bids me; and the words I utter
 Let none think flattery, for they'll find them truth.
 This royal infant, — heaven still move about her! —
 Though in her cradle, yet now promises
 Upon this land a thousand thousand blessings,
 Which time shall bring to ripeness. She shall be
 (But few now living can behold that goodness)
 A pattern to all princes living with her,
 And all that shall succeed: Sheba was never
 More covetous of wisdom, and fair virtue,
 Than this pure soul shall be: all princely graces,
 That mould up such a mighty piece as this is,
 With all the virtues that attend the good,
 Shall still be doubled on her: truth shall nurse her;
 Holy and heavenly thoughts still counsel her:
 She shall be lov'd, and fear'd: her own shall bless her:
 Her foes shake like a field of beaten corn,
 And hang their heads with sorrow: good grows with her.

In her days, every man shall eat in safety
 Under his own vine what he plants; and sing
 The merry songs of peace to all his neighbours.
 God shall be truly known; and those about her
 From her shall read the perfect ways of honour,
 And by those claim their greatness, not by blood.

King Henry VIII

Nor shall this peace sleep with her: but as when
The bird of wonder dies, the maiden phoenix,
Her ashes new create another heir,
As great in admiration as herself;
So shall she leave her blessedness to one,
(When heaven shall call her from this cloud of darkness)

Who, from the sacred ashes of her honour,
Shall star-like rise, as great in fame as she was,
And so stand fix'd. Peace, plenty, love, truth, terror,
That were the servants to this chosen infant,
Shall then be his, and like a vine grow to him:
Wherever the bright sun of heaven shall shine,
His honour and the greatness of his name
Shall be, and make new nations: he shall flourish,
And, like a mountain cedar, reach his branches
To all the plains about him. Our children's children
Shall see this, and bless heaven.

KING HENRY

Thou speakest wonders.

CRANMER

She shall be, to the happiness of England,
An aged princess; many days shall see her,
And yet no day without a deed to crown it.
Would I had known no more! but she must die:
She must; the saints must have her: yet a virgin,
A most unspotted lily shall she pass
To the ground, and all the world shall mourn her.

KING HENRY

O, lord archbishop!
Thou hast made me now a man: never, before
This happy child, did I get any thing.
This oracle of comfort has so pleased me,
That when I am in heaven I shall desire
To see what this child does, and praise my Maker. —

I thank ye all. — To you, my good lord mayor,
 And you, good brethren, I am much beholding:
 I have received much honour by your presence,
 And ye shall find me thankful. — Lead the way,
 lords: —
 Ye must all see the queen, and she must thank ye;
 She will be sick else. This day, no man think
 He has business at his house, for all shall stay:
 This little one shall make it holiday.

Epilogue

'T is ten to one, this play can never please
 All that are here. Some come to take their ease,
 And sleep an act or two; hut those, we fear,
 We have frighted with our trumpets: so, 't is clear.
 They 'll say, 't is naught: others, to hear the city
 Abus'd extremely, and to cry, — “that 's witty,”
 Which we have not done neither: that, I fear,
 All the expected good we 're like to hear
 For this play, at this time, is only in
 The merciful construction of good women;
 For such a one we show'd 'em. If they smile,
 And say, 't will do, I know, within a while
 All the best men are ours; for 't is ill hap,
 If they hold, when their ladies bid 'em clap.
